Third Town Meeting Provides a Glimpse into Princeton's Future

Yeasty, contentious, imaginative and frequently fierce, the third of Princeton's Town Meetings on the future of the Central Business District ("CBD") will quite possibly turn out to be most productive of the three.

Highlights of Sunday afternoon's five-hour session:

Unexpected revelation by University architecture students of "top-secret" sketches by University architects for possible development of the Playhouse parking lot . . . a proposal to turn the post office building into a Community Center . . . a suggestion that a package delivery service might relieve streets of shoppers' cars . . . and why not hang flower-pots from lamp-posts?

More than 100 people attended the meeting, held in the First Baptist Church at the head of John Street. More black residents attended this meeting than the other two, and almost all were articulate, critical and skeptical about the future of the CBD as it pertains to the area where they live.

Mayor Robert W. Cawley told each of Sunday's six workshops to come up with a project which could be completed in three months. Not many did, and the "project" was frequently a proposal for some new committee.

But there was plenty of action.

The housing workshop produced the most fireworks. Its chairman was Grant Green. He happens to be the University's real-estate man and so he found himself on the hottest seat of the afternoon, fending and defending, as some 40 members of the panel most of them black, fired questions at him, demanding to know the University's plans for its Playhouse parking lot.

This lot is bordered on the north by Wiggins Street, and most of Princeton's black-owned homes are also north of Wiggins.

"I went to President Goheen, and he promised me nothing would be done by the University against us, on the north," declared Mrs. Kathleen Edwards, president of the John Witherspoon Civic Association."I mean — no high-rise, no 'wall'."

Architecture students produced an orange-bound booklet, "Hulfish Street, Princeton," containing roughly-sketched architects' proposals of various ways the University might develop that Hulfish-Wiggins Playhouse parking lot.

Students said the document was "top-secret" in the eyes of University officials. Mr. Green assured the group repeatedly that "it's a set of alternate plans, proposed by the architects the University hired: we asked for these plans, so we'd have something we could talk about to the Planning Board. These are NOT specific development plans."

But when Mrs. Edwards persisted: "The University DOES know what it wants to do with that area." Mr. Green agreed that it did.

Later, during supper when each workshop summarized its discussions for the whole gathering, a participant demanded that the University share its plan with the community as those plans move along.

Mr. Green said he favored this idea, but he added, "I'm not sure I have the authority to agree."

According to the booklet sketches, the University hopes for a mix of parking, residential and commercial use for the present parking lot.

In one scheme, the Playhouse itself is totally removed. In another, all parking is concentrated at one end of the lot. (Almost all parking is underground in the various proposals.)

One plan shows three stories of apartments on top of four stories of parking, one of which is underground. The land slope, architects point out, is such that the net effect would not be high-rise. In fact, there are no "high-rise" proposals in the sketches.

Residences are apartments or town-houses. In some sketches, clusters of residences are at right-

Political Slates Form — Wallace Not to Run

Mayor John D. Wallace announced this week that he will not run again for Township Committee.

In his place, the Republicans will again run John Kuser, who lost a seat on Committee last year by only nine votes. Republican Dean Chace will seek re-election as Mr. Kuser's running mate.

Township Democrats will run a pair of candidates who are presently serving on municipal boards. Abbot Low Moffat, 2 Pheasant Hill Road, a member of the Township Planning Board, will run with William Sutphin, 6 Laurel Road, a member of the Regional Planning Board.

Both Democratic candidates have the unanimous endorsement of the Princeton Community Democratic Association. The only remaining candidate possibility, by Tuesday night's final decision, was Ellen Levine, and she decided to withdraw, so there will be no primary contest.

Borough. In the Borough, a Democratic primary contest was still a possibility late Tuesday night. Robert Powell, 39 Chestnut Street, and Barbara Sigmund, 8 Evelyn Place, have the endorsement of the P.C.D.O. for the two seats on Borough Council.

Larry Ivan, 79 Jefferson Road, did not close the door on a possible primary fight after he failed Tuesday night to win P.C.D.O. endorsement.

The P.C.D.O., after endorsing the Powell-Sigmund ticket, also voted to endorse an open primary, if Mr. Ivan wants to file.

Republicans in the Borough will file Michael J. Myers and John P. Dismukes as their two Council candidates. Mr. Myers lives at 267 Hawthorne Avenue, and Mr. Dismukes, at 126 Wilson Road.

Borough candidates will compete for the seat now filled by Charles Cornforth (Republican) and Robert Hendry (Democrat), both of whom announced earlier this month that they will not run again.

Hard Decision. "I love it! But . . . " Mayor Wallace said, explaining his decision, "It's a very time-consuming job and you have to give it everything you've got. The number of contributions you can make diminishes as time goes by, and I always more or less paced myself to the idea of serving six years."

Mr. Wallace was elected to his first three-year term in 1966. Township Committeemen are elected only to Committee; the mayor is then chosen usually from the majority party, by the Committee itself.

Mr. Wallace has served as mayor for three years, two consecutively, then a gap when James A. Floyd was mayor. He is now in his third year as chief executive.

He pointed out that Committee work takes more time now than it did six years ago, and he mentioned the increasing responsibilities of his job as a vice-president of New Jersey National Bank as one reason for declining to run again.

Next to the time factor, however, were the needs of his growing children, the mayor said. They are six, 11 and 12 years old.

Consolidation? Mr. Wallace said he wished that consolidation with the Borough had been achieved during his terms in office, and Mr. Chace, in a statement announcing his candidacy, said "It is one of my hopes that I will be in public office when this great and highly desirable event finally takes place."

The Town as Tutor

Consolidation has been the subject of the semester for a quartet of Woodrow Wilson students working under the guidance of Township Committeeman Jay Bleiman.

The four presented their findings on consolidation to a joint, executive gathering of Committeemen and Borough Councilmen Monday night. The students have been studying the fiscal and political aspects of consolidation, and they think the town is now ripe for union. They have also been querying townspeople about their views.

Mr. Bleiman said the project gives students a chance to study problems of the real world.

DRUG RAID WEDNESDAY

On University Campus. Borough police conducted a massive drug raid Wednesday morning at 5 o'clock on the Princeton University campus.

Seventeen Borough police arrived simultaneously at several dormitory locations, arresting six students. At least one more arrest is to be made, according to Lt. Michael Carnevale, who co-ordinated the entire police action.

The six will be arraigned on an assortment of drug charges including sale, possession and maintaining a common nuisance. The drugs involved are marijuana and hashish, Lt. Carnevale said.

One student, he added has been charged with growing marijuana in his room. "I have 11 plants on my desk right now," he said.

In all, a total of 21 complaint summons have been issued against seven students charging them with unlawful possession, sale and disposing of a controlled dangerous substance. All charges were signed by Detectives Timothy Huizing and Anthony Ranfone.

Bail is to be set by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. Lt. Carnevale said. The students are scheduled to appear in Borough court on May 3.

The arrests were the culmination, Lt. Carnevale said, of an investigation by the Borough police narcotic squad of illicit drug traffic on the campus that began February 9. Campus police were notified, he said, prior to the raid.

angles to Wiggins, so that the view from the north would be down a mall between clusters.

Bridges For Pedestrians. Almost every proposed sketch shows pedestrian bridges across Wiggins Street, and proposals in which apartments predominate over commercial buildings, show malls and open spaces.

In one conception, is a large commercial building. The University is said to have considered moving the University Store to the Hulfish area.

Black home-owners also protested the insistence of real-estate brokers who keep trying to buy up black homes for conversion to expensive town-houses. Mrs. Carolyn Moore said black home-owners should pool financial resources so they could resist such pressures, perhaps exploring corporate, co-operative ownership of individual homes. Black residents also commented bitterly on the large number of taverns in the area, charging that all are white-owned.

"Housing" 's plan of action was formation of a committee. It would be named by Mayor Cawley to consider CBD development as related to housing. One workshop member insisted that the committee be closely tied to the Planning Board "or it's insane even to form it."

"You're as right as you can be!" exclaimed a black homeowner.

State Funds Sought. When someone pointed out that the University has money to hire architects, while black homeowners or even the new committee, have none, it was suggested that the state might have funds to pay consulting architects for the committee. Architecture students attending the workshop also promised to help.

The Planning Board's own CBD committee, led by Charles Agle, may be asked to delay final recommendations until the new committee has had a chance to work.

As a final thrust, in the Housing Workshop, Mrs. Emma Epps, lifelong black resident of Princeton, said to Mr. Green, "You and the Planning Board — come down to visit us in our neighborhood and see how we live," and Mrs. Edwards added tartly, "You'll see that what you thought was substandard housing, isn't at all."

Two days later, at his Tuesday press conference, Mayor Cawley said that, in terms of practical politics, residents of the John-Witherspoon area have a veto on any Planning Board proposals they don't want.

Two Parks Planned. On the lighter side of life, the "Street Life" workshop immediately began building two parks: one in the grassy square fronting the post office, the other in front of the old Nassau Street School (on University-owned land).

Under Flight Two youth, the latter is already far along in planning: a stage for Street Theatre and rock concerts ("if we can persuade the neighbors," the Flight Two member wisely said); benches, a shelter at the bus stop; swings for kids.

"Rip out the grass and lay cobblestones in front of the post office," proposed James Sayen. Identified closely with conservation and open space, Mr. Sayen does not ordinarly rip out grass, but he thinks cobbles would be less inhibiting for people to walk on.

Prohibit cars on Palmer Square West, exile the "Tiger" at the head of Palmer Square ("he's useless," commented one panel member). Invite the Nassau Inn to run a concession ("if they could keep those Nassau Inn prices down," Mr. Sayen observed) with tables for eating out under the trees.

What about the Post Office? Post office building? Who needs it? The panel asked, now that major operations are carried out in the Route One building. Square dance in the vast interior where mail was once sorted; invite the elderly to come in for checkers, set up space where the young can play ping-pong. In short, make the building a comunity center.

Somebody mentioned that Princeton already has a place for young people, but one 18-year-old told the stunned gathering that he'd never heard of the Princeton Youth Center.

Black residents then began to speak strongly in favor of an integrated center. The Princeton Youth Center is now chiefly devoted to black-culture. Tentative plans were laid for a meeting with Youth Center directors on wider community use of the building.

In other workshops, ideas were put forward that have been heard before. Traffic-and-Parking, for example, endorsed the proposal former Borough Councilman Alice Male that existing parking lots outside the Borough, chiefly on church properties, be used for parking by people who work in Princeton.

These drivers would then come into town on Mercer Metro buses. Mrs. Male estimated that 250 cars could be removed from Nassau Street under her proposal.

This group also proposed revival of a package-delivery service, perhaps manned by high-school or University students. "Drivers don't realize what it costs, in money, to use a car for errands," Mrs. Male commented.

Perhaps the most ambitious project that flowered on Sunday came from the "Resources" workshop. Its members vowed that they will compile a list of all the people and organizations in Princeton who "know" — about everything from where to get legal advice, to how you hang a flower-pot from a lamp post.

'WEDNESDAYS' BACKED

For Schools by 5-3 Vote. The school board approved another year for the "Wednesday Program" Tuesday night by a 5-3 vote, C. George Fitzgerald absent.

"No" votes were cast by William Marvel, Philip Cruickshank and Winthrop Pike. Dr. Cruickshank explained that he wanted the board to approve some system of teacher accountability. The others did not comment on their vote.

Approval did not include action on the Wednesday Program's constitution and by-laws. William Bux, president of the PREA (teachers' association), and the New Jersey Education Association lawyer representing the PREA, both warned that adoption by the board of the constitution would violate the PREA contract. They asked deferral of board action until the PREA negotiating team and the board can meet.

Chief objection swings around an article in the constitution calling for withholding part of a staff member's pay if the member doesn't attend Wednesday Home Group meetings. There are about six a year.

Henry Powsner, of the board, pointed out that teachers themselves had drawn the constitution. Board president Robert Bierman warned Mr. Bux and the N.J.E.A. lawyer. "We could legislate the Wednesday Program out of existence, and the blame would be on the PREA."

Attendance Questioned. Arnold Cogan, 177 Meadowbrook, asked why "Wednesday" meetings are poorly attended if teachers support the program so eagerly. He said, "teachers don't seem to be self-responsible."

A Wednesday Program staff member explained that attendance was mandatory only at the half-dozen Home Group meetings where the program's plans were laid and that otherwise, staff latitude was wide.

Full Wednesday evaluation won't come until December, explained Superintendent Philip E. McPherson because the program is being shifted from a school to a calendar year for organization purposes.

Sharon Powell, Middle School teacher, promised more student involvement in next year's Wednesday Program. Murray Cohen, principal of Johnson Park, said principals as a group support the program although teacher freedom means some dillution of traditional principal authority.

Unanimously, the board endorsed a re-organization of Special Services. The new program places guidance counsellors, nurses, remedial teachers and speech therapists under the principal of the individual school, with Special Services director Charles Huchet, acting as advisor only.

Legal Action? In another legal sparring match with the N.J.E.A. lawyer, the board learned that the PREA may turn to grievance procedures because of faculty cut-backs.

Dr. Bierman said board counsel Thomas Cook had advised that actions taken were legal. He added that no final decision has been made on the future of the high school's Distributive Education course.

Purchase of a computer for the high school will be put off for some more study, and all five bids from prospective sellers, were rejected. Dr. Carl Helm, citizen chairman of a spontaneously formed committee of computer experts, advised the move, saying purchase of a computer was "premature."

Dr. Bierman suggested that Mr. Bux, who formulated the computer proposal, be invited to help the citizen group.

Extra School Holiday

Because not much snow fell this winter, there is a left-over school day, and this means an extra holiday.

Princeton's public schools will be closed Friday, May 26, to allow a four-day Memorial Day weekend.

The school calendar for '72-'73, unanimously passed by the school board Tuesday night, has a winter recess including Thursday, Friday and Monday, February 15, 16 and 19. Spring recess is 1 p.m. April 19 through Friday, April 27.

A parent in Tuesday's audience asked the board to adjust the calendar to include Passover as well as Easter. She was told that it is now too late.

$1 MILLION RECEIVED

By University From Mellon Foundation. Princeton University has received a $1 million general grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, New York City, which will be used, President Robert F. Goheen reported, in three areas of critical importance — fellowships for graduate students, the Mellon Foundation Center for the Social Sciences in the University Library, and a pioneering and expanded program of theatre.

Two hundred thousand dollars of the Mellon gift will go toward graduate fellowships over the next four years. This will help ease the sharp strain brought on in this area of the University budget by the precipitous drop — chiefly in Federal moneys — in the outside funding of graduate fellowships.

Half of the Mellon grant — or $500,000 — will be used to augment the present Mellon Foundation Social Science Book Fund, established in 1970 with a grant from the Foundation. The Mellon Center, to be, located in Princeton's principal library building, the Harvey S. Firestone Memorial Library, is essentially a laboratory for social scientists, bringing together a variety of reference materials in the social sciences.

President Goheen went on to say that "the endowment for purchases in the social sciences which we were able to set up with the Mellon Foundation's earlier assistance has never been more important than it is in the 1970s. Library costs continue to mushroom and it becomes more and more difficult to insure the currency and development of our collections in the social sciences in which there are now over 8,000 individual course elections each year."

Three hundred thousand dollars of the Mellon grant will help support Princeton's new program of theatre over the next four years. The program's first step, President Goheen stated, "means the thorough reorganization of the repertory theatre we have had and its closer integration into the academic and cultural life of the University."

The far-ranging program provides for the inclusion of such elements as: undergraduate courses taught by members of the professional resident company, actors' training workshops, new script workshops, and an annual playwright in residence carrying forward his or her wok to actual poduction at Prince-

STEREO SET STOLEN

From Jefferson Road Home. A stereo system valued at $525 was stolen Thursday from the home of William Lockwood, 110 Jefferson Road.

Police report that entry was gained by breaking a pane of glass in a rear door. Detective Anthony Ranfone and Ptl. Arthur Jackson investigated.

Pocketbook Taken. Susan Branch, 24, of New York City told Township police last week that while she was playing tennis at the Community Park courts, she heard a car door slam.

She turned around and saw two youths in their early teens running from her car. Investigating, she discovered they had taken her purse containing $1.50. Her car was unlocked, she told police.

It Won't Be Missed

Lose an hour?
Yes, you will,
But it's one less hour
Of frost and chill.

Sub-normal temperatures continued to dominate the late April scene, with the thermometer early Wednesday morning showing readings just about at the freezing mark.

For the time being, it won't be wet (April exceeded its average rainfall well before the month was over), and a gradually milder trend will begin.

A clear weekend? The first since March? Best the Man would say was, "Maybe, but don't count on it."

Fill 'er Up! Two men filled their car with gas last week at Mary Watts' store on Route 206 and then drove off without paying.

Anthony Scott, the attendant, told police they left with their lights off to prevent him from seeing their license plate. The unpaid gas bill: $8.25.

Mr. Scott described the two as white, between 25-30, clean shaven with short hair. The driver was heavy set, his passenger skinny. He described the car as a blue Chevrolet hardtop. The incident occurred at 10:42 in the evening.

TWO ARE CHARGED

With Shoplifting. Two Princeton area residents were charged last week by police with shoplifting.

Borough police signed a complaint summons against Fakhruddin Ahmed, 31, of Lawrence Apartments, after he allegedly tried to leave Davidson's Market on Nassau Street with two items valued at $1.06 without paying for them. Lt. Michael Carnevale reported that the market has been plagued with shoplifting over a long period of time.

The favorite spot for shoplifters in the Township—Bamberger's — was the scene of another attempt last week.

A store security guard apprehended Maurice Byrd, 19, of Trenton, for allegedly shoplifting a woman's tan coat valued at $28. Byrd was arrested by Twp. Ptl. Robert Robert Nielsen and later released on $50 bail.

SIX ARE FINED

For Assault. Six persons were fined in Borough criminal court last week for assault.

Gunner C. Asker, 59, of West Trenton, paid $60 for assaulting Borough Sgt. Theodore T. Lewis, after the latter issued him two parking tickets, one for obstructing traffic. Mr. Asker paid an additional $30 for the two parking violations.

Assault with a knife cost Harold Graves, 49, 21 Lytle Street, $110, a 30-day suspended sentence to the Mercer County Workhouse and a year's probation. Leroy T. Tucker, 19, 164 Witherspoon Street, paid $45 after he pleaded guilty to assaulting Jean Bond of the same address. A second charge of possession of heroin against Tucker was dismissed, when the report from the State Police laboratory was negative.

Charles B. Worden, 23, of Cream Ridge paid $45 for assaulting University Proctor Stephen J. Verish, and Jeffrey Carter, 30, 3 Shirley Court, was fined the same amount. The complainant was Diane Carter.

Donald A. Ruffin, 21, 136 John Street, was fined $60 for assaulting Arnold Herschorn and Edward Grant, the complainants, on Witherspoon St. Robert Brooks, 21, 39 Clay Street, also charged with assault by the same two complainants, pleaded not guilty. He was upheld by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. who ruled Brooks was in a crowd and did not strike anyone.

Raymond Dixon, 21, of Charlottesville, Va., also charged with assault by Mr. Hersehorn, failed to appear. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Referred to a Grand Jury for possible action were Robert L. Holloway, 33, of Trenton for open lewdness, and Gary J. Sapienza, 20, of Trenton. Sapienza was charged with breaking and entering and larceny on the Princeton University campus and with possession of stolen property.

Willie Mae Tadlock, 43, 29 Green Street, was fined $25 for issuing a worthless check.

PUPPET WORKSHOP SET

By Public Library. On Saturday, May 6 to celebrate the Art People Party, Princeton Public Library will offer a paper bag puppet workshop from 11 to 4 in the Children's Room.

Edith Kogan, Princeton artist, will be there to help children create offbeat puppets Three story hours for preschoolers will also be featured. The first is at 12:30 with a reading of "Winnie the Pooh" accompanied by Jeff Naylor's ensemble of recorder players.

At 1:30 Barbara Robinson will use puppets as part of the story hour. The third session, a reading of scary tales, will begin at 2:30.

Recreation Board Calls Lombardo's Charges False

In a six-page statement signed by chairman Wilbert Brooks and vice-chairman Sanford C. Reynolds Jr., the Joint Recreation Board has replied to recent statements by Borough Councilman Martin Lombardo criticizing the board and R. Donald Barr, executive director of the Recreation Department. Mr. Lombardo has served as Council liaison to the Recreation Board since January, 1971.

At Council meetings, Mr. Lombardo has charged that the Recreation Board has: neglected the middle class and minority groups; been insensitive to the needs of the community; failed to keep the baseball fields at Community Park in good repair; and mismanaged its handling of the Adult Basketball League.

The Management Committee of the Joint Recreation Board "takes exception" to Mr. Lombardo's remarks, the statement says, and adds that he is not fully informed" and is "not up to date on the activities of the Joint Recreation Board."

In support, the statement points out that Mr. Lombardo has attended only seven of 13 regularly scheduled meetings of the board and has been absent from the three combined meetings of Council and Township Committee, a time when the "Recreation Board presented its recommended programs, discussed priorities and requested budgets..."

Prior to its April meeting, the statement adds that Mr. Lombardo had not attended a meeting of the Recreation Board since November, 1971. Attempts by Mr. Barr to contact him at his home brought no reply.

Charges Refuted. The statement then answers each of Mr. Lombardo's allegations. In denying Mr. Lombardo's charge that the board has neglected middle class and minority groups, the statement says, "We do not know to which specific segments of the Princeton population he is making reference. We do know that every effort is made to make allactivities from swimming to baton twirling and folk dancing available to every resident . . . regardless of his ability to pay . . ."

Mr. Lombardo recently voted against appropriating funds to construct two handball, two bocci, two platform tennis courts and a basketball court at Community Park "However, since he was absent from all budget meetings when these and other additional new activities were discussed," the statement says, "he was apparently not aware that the consensus of all was that with the funds available, this was the best way to provide additional varied activities without raising the local tax rate excessively."

At a recent Council meeting, after charging the board with being insensitive to the needs of the community, Mr. Lombardo recommended a survey to find out what residents wanted in the way of recreation facilities. This puzzled the board.

The statement continues: "To the best of our knowledge, Mr. Lombardo is aware of the survey the Joint Recreation Board has conducted recently among 1,000 residents seeking this information...We have such a survey and final results should be available in a month."

The survey was made for the board at no cost by a Princeton-based research firm.

Steady Use a Promblem. Concerning Mr. Lombardo's complaint about the poor condition of the baseball fields at Community Park, used in the spring and summer by the adult softball League, YMCA and PYBA Little Leagues, the board replied that it was difficult to maintain them properly when the only time the fields are not used is in the winter.

In carrying out its policy that the fields should be kept available for the widest number of activities, the Board has made it possible, the statement says, for them to be used nine months a year by "baseball teams, soccer teams, Princeton Midget Football League, field hockey, Middle School gym classes, PHS lacrosse team and any group of citizens who wish to participate in an activity . . ."

A recent inspection of the field, reveals that while they are not 100 per cent ideal for baseball alone, they are far from unusable.

Mr. Barr also drew Mr. Lombardo's censure when he suspended four teams of the Adult Basketball League after four pieces of art work valued at more than $700 and 24 towels were discovered stolen February 2 from the Princeton Day School gymnasium. Two adult basketball games were the only activity at the school the night of February 1.

At its February meeting, the Recreation Board, after talking with several of the participants on the suspended teams, voted to continue the league on a reduced basis and make provision for rescheduling games for the suspended teams, hoping the items would be returned. Two of the art works were returned anonymously within a few days, a third shortly thereafter. The fourth is still missing.

Mr. Lombardo felt the board should have taken no action in the theft. He attacked the board and Mr. Barr for their actions at the April meeting of the board. "If this was a matter of concern to him," asked the statement, "why did he not present his views at the time the discipline was meted out, or at the regularly scheduled February 15 meeting?"

The board said it regretted having to publish such a statement. "We feel it is our duty, however, to keep residents of the community accurately informed."

Wallace Declares Lombardo Is Uninformed

Borough Councilman Martin P. Lombardo has not attended key meetings with the Recreation Commission and the two governing bodies, including a budget meeting, charged Township Mayor John D. Wallace this week, in comment on the current feud between Mr. Lombardo and the Recreation Department.

"He did not attend a long-range planning meeting scheduled at least six weeks in advance," the mayor said, "nor did he contact his counter part on Township Committee, assigned to Recreation liaison."

In a measured, prepared comment, the mayor referred to Mr. Lombardo's publicly-expressed desire for an in-depth survey of what Princeton people want in the way of recreation.

"A survey has been under way for six-nine months," the mayor observed. "It may not give us all the answers, but it is being done, and the Councilman should have been aware of it."

He pointed out that Township Committee unanimously approved plans for new handball, basketball, bocci and paddle-tennis facilities on the south side of the Community Park complex, and he added that Borough Council itself approved these, with only Mr. Lombardo dissenting.

In regard to the controversy over the basketball league, Mr. Wallace said the League, instituted at Mr. Lombardo's request, had many members who were not residents of Princeton. He stated that the Recreation Commission unanimously backed the recreation director, Donald Barr, and his disciplinary action against the League.

"Personal attacks against Mr Barr are completely unwarranted," the Mayor declared.

ASSAULTED AND ROBBED

On Lytle Street. A 25-year-old John Street resident was assaulted and robbed shortly before 10 Friday evening as he was walking on Lytle Street near John.

The victim, who called police from his home after the incident, told them that a young man had approached him and asked for money. When he refused, two or three more youths appeared.

One of them, Lt. Michael Carnevale said, struck the victim twice on the head, knocking him to the ground. His assailants then took $15 from his wallet and fled.

Police searched the area but there was no one in sight. The victim was not seriously hurt.

Assaulted on Campus. The same evening, in an unrelated attack, a 22-year-old Princeton University student, accompanied by his date, was assaulted near Chapel Drive on campus. He was later treated at the Princeton Medical Center for a laceration of the head and released.

According to police, the student and his date were crossing Nassau Street to the campus around 11 p.m. when they were almost struck by a passing car. The near-miss prompted the girl to make an abusive remark to the driver.

The driver and his passenger, police said, followed the pair on campus, got out of the car and assaulted the student. They were frightened off when another student came to his aid. The girl was not struck.

The two assailants took with them the victim's wire-framed glasses, police said. Detective Anthony Ranfone and Ptl. Kerry Klink are investigating the incident.

11 ARE FINED

In Township Court. Eleven area residents were fined last week in Township traffic court — three of them $15 each for careless driving. They are William D. Shields, 22, 23 Chestnut Street; Sherman Bates, 48, 23 Quarry Street; and Perle M. Keiderling, 49, Cherry Valley Road.

James E. Green Jr., 24, 195 South Harrison Street, was fined $205 by Judge Burton Peskin for driving while on a revoked list. John M. Duncan, 23, 81 Leigh Avenue, paid $55 for failing to keep right. He was found not guilty of two additional charges — reckless driving and allowing an unlicensed driver to operate his car.

Failure to yield while exiting from a private road cost Emily G. Schureman, 56, 169 Cedar Lane, and James E. Hardy, 63, 57 Birch Avenue, $15 each. Also fined $15 were Pietro Pesce, 39, 75 Harris Road, improper turn; and Marie L. Eck, 38, of Belle Mead, passing a stopped school bus.

Thomas P. Arena, 21, of 19½ Blackwell Avenue, Hopewell, was fined $30 for a stop-sign violation. He pleaded not guilty. Francis T. Chambers 4th, 20, 1 Cleveland Road, paid $15 for driving without a license and $15 for failure to make necessary repairs.

Boroogh Court. In Borough court Monday, Byron R. Kelly, 54, 130 Nassau Street, was fined $15 for making a U-turn.

Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. also fined Ruth T. Billmeyer, 29, 271 Hawthorne Avenue, $17 for speeding.

FACULTY ASKS DELAY

In ROTC Reinstatement. As the Vietnam War goes, so goes ROTC at Princeton.

Voted off campus by the faculty and the Council of the University Community in the aftermath of the student demonstrations against the sending of U.S. soldiers into Cambodia in May, 1970, ROTC had staged a comeback as the war began to wind down and student interest had dwindled. It's reinstatement had recently been vote by University trustees.

But President Nixon's decision to resume massive bombing of North Vietnam has naturally produced adverse effects on college campuses. Many students had never given up their opposition to ROTC, and their ranks began to swell again.

The latest move came in a

IN SHE GOES! Lake Carnegie may be thick as soup and badly in need of dredging but there's enough life in the lake to float this 100-foot dredging barge. Launched last week in a convenient — and rare — 20 foot deep spot between the Washington Road bridge and the "dinky" bridge, the steel barge will start next month on its six-month dredging voyage down the lake. The scouring process will go on 24 hours a day, six days a week until Carnegie is as clean as new.

special faculty meeting Monday called at the request of nine professors, at which the faculty voted 140-88 with 17 abstentions to "recommend that the trustees act to defer the reinstatement of ROTC on campus and to reconsider the issue at the end of the Vietnam war.

It also passed overwhelmingly a resolution requesting a student referendum on the matter.

"The trustees will take very seriously any expression of faculty opinion, and any substantial expression of student opinion," President Robert F. Goheen said after the meeting. "I think the rather bogus notion has gotten around that the trustees don't weight these things very seriously," he added.

58 Students Charged. For their alleged participation in the sit-in at Nassau Hall that blocked a trustees meeting April 15, 58 students have received notification of charges pending against them.

Dean Neil Rudenstine and Dean of the Graduate College Aaron Lemonick brough the charges: (1) for preventing the regular and orderly closing and securing of Nassau Hall at 5 p.m., and (2) interfering with a scheduled official University meeting in such a way that it was impossible for the meeting (to be conducted) at its appointed place.

The Faculty Council on Vietnam has voted to recommend that charges not be pressed against the demonstrators.

Woodrow Wilson School was occupied around 3 p.m. last Friday for approximately 12 hours by some 200 protestors who charged over from a rally at the Mather Sundial, where they had been exhorted by a series of speakers to "close it down."

The students prepared a statement demanding amnesty for all students facing disciplinary action in connection with the Nassau Hall sit-in; an open meeting of the Board of trustees; suspension of all academic activities at the university immediately; and disclosure of the source of the anonymous $35 million grant to the Woodrow Wilson School in 1961.

The demonstrators voted down a proposal to close the building to non-strikers, however, and ended the sit-in around 3 a.m. Saturday morning.

Doesn't your baby deserve The Learning Crib?

The Learning Crib is the basis of a whole new concept in child development. It recognizes, for the first time, that your baby begins to change and learn from the minute he is born. You are his teacher. The crib is his classroom.

Finally, you have an alternative to the "containment" crib whose cage-like atmosphere bores and frustrates a baby. The Learning Crib by Edcom Systems provides your child with a constantly changing environment that stimulates his development with new challenges. This unique crib was developed by the same talented group that made Creative Playthings so successful. It is based on recommendations by 16 eminent pediatricians, psychologists, and early childhood educators. The Learning Crib is available in two models. See the complete Earliest Years program of cribs, learning modules, corrals, play tables and canopies tomorrow. You owe it to your child.

ATTENTION:

"PIRATES" HO

At Kirby Arts Center. A cast of thousands—well, dozens—led by Lee H. Bristol Jr. and George H. Gallup III will perform "The Pirates of Penzance" this weekend under the banner of the Princeton Gilbert and Sullivan Association. Arthur Lithgow is directing.

"Pirates" will be given this Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Saturday afternoon at 2:30. A student preview will play this Thursday at 8:30 at a special reduced price.

Others in the cast are George Gray as the Pirate King, Philip Rader as Frederick, Mary Kemp as Mabel, Lois Laverty as Ruth. Dr. Bristol will play Major-General Stanley ("the very model of a modern major-general") and Mr. Gallup will be Edward, the policeman who's lot is not a happy one.

Tickets may be purchased at the McCarter Theatre box-office, or reserved by calling 921-8700.

REPERTORY ANNOUNCED

For McCarter. Five plays will be chosen from a list of ten now being culled for presentation in 1972-73 by a revived McCarter Repertory company.

Shakespeare's "The Tempest," Arthur Miller's "The Price" and Michael Weller's "Moonchildren" are on the list. So are two American premieres, yet to be announced.

Louis Criss, artistic director for the new Repertory Drama Company, and Daniel Seltzer, chairman of the University's Faculty Committee on Theatre, will be making the selections.

Also under consideration are "In the Matter of J. Robert Oppenheimer," Sophocles' "Oedipus the King," Ibsen's "Rosmersholm," Shaw's "Hearthreak House," Beckett's "Endgame," Joe Orton's

TRIANGLE OPENS

With "Blue Genes." When twins apply for admission to and begin attending college, there is enough material for a two-act musical comedy, and that's the genesis of "Blue Genes," Triangle Club's 1972 presentation, due to open at McCarter this Tursday at 8:30 p.m.

"Blue Genes" will play again this Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights and in matinee performance Saturday. Tickets are on sale at the McCarter box office or may be reserved at 921-8700.

Phil Raskin, undergraduate member of Triangle, is the writer. Milton Lyon is directing his 14th Triangle show, with the assistance of choreographer Joan Morton Lucas. They have worked together in P.J. & B. musicals as well.

Mr. Lyon said this week of "Blue Genes" that the writer "has successfully handled the difficult job of writing about a modern family and their kids. The script shows great insight and wit."

Musically, there are 18 numbers and seven dance productions. A band, conducted by Don Boroson, a junior at the University, will be directed from the pit—first time that's occurred in several years of Triangle shows.

The cast numbers 60 undergraduates, divided about equally between males and females. The sets, according to technical director John Bloom, "is in the grand style McCarter was built for."

POP-ROCK ENDING

For This Season. McCarter's pop-rock series will end Sunday May 14, when singer-instrumentalist Dave Mason comes to Princeton (8 p.m.) in one of the three concert appearances he's making this spring in the east. He's a former member of the "Traffic."

This Saturday, Mark-Almond will be in Alexander Hall at 8 p.m., and next Friday, May 5, Poco will appear at 8 p.m. in Dillon Gym, jointly sponsored by McCarter and campus radio station WPRB.

FESTIVAL MONTH

For Films, at McCarter. A "May Movie Festival" will occupy McCarter starting next Monday with an 8 p.m. showing of Albert Finney's 1968 British film, "Charlie Bubbles."

Next Wednesday, May 3 (also at 8 p.m.,) McCarter will continue with "End of the Road," one of 1970's most controversial films. This one is X-rated, and has several scenes "not for the squeamish." Nobody under 17 will be admitted.

In "Charlie Bubbles," director Finney presents vignettes, each one focusing on the new-rich in current British society. Finney plays Charlie, supported by Liza Minelli and Colin Blakeley.

In "End of the Road," writer Terry Southern presents a comedy of college life in the '50's, and throws in a satire on psychotherapy as well. Aram Avakian directed a cast including not only James Earl Jones and Stacy Keach, but a pair of newcomers Dorothy Triscan.

SHAW, AT INTIME

"The Philanderer." Bernard Shaw's tart comments on men and women of "advanced" views, "The Philanderer", will be the final production of the spring season for Theatre Intime.

It will open Thursday, May 4, at 8:30 p.m. and will play that weekend and May 11, 12 and 13, all at Murray Theatre. Reservations may be made at

Charteris, the philanderer, is trying to escape a former mistress who is trying to get him back, while at the same time attempting to carry on a love affair with a woman who refuses to be enslaved by love."

A third female member of the case is a younger sister, who has some of Shaw's best lines as she puts down male chauvinism and works over a father who cannot understand the "New Women" his daughters have become.

Shaw, in a 1936 preface to his 1900 play, wrote that its ideas "instead of being 36 years behind the times, (may be) 36 years ahead of them." And of course, 36 years have passed since he wrote those words.

Peter Breger is directing for Intime. His credits as director include "Everyman," "George M," and "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" all for the Rochester Community Players "Youtheatre."

In the case will be Pat Gorman, Michele Larue, Helena Snow, Stephen Hunter, Daniel Haughey, Howard Leathers and James Shankman.

Auditions Set

"The Madwoman of Chaillot" will be Princeton Community Players' final offering of the season, scheduled for performance June 9-11, 15-17. Auditions for parts in Giraudoux' comedy will be held this Sunday at 8:30 p.m., and next Thursday, May 4, at 8:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre of the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill at Route 206.

Anyone may try out for a part. People who are interested in backstage work involving lights, sound, props or costumes, is invited to attend Sunday evening.

Leo Cohen is directing the play for the Players. "Madwoman" has over 30 different roles, including the four manwomen who lead the poor of Paris against the wicked financiers; a ragpicker; street singer; flower-seller and juggler.

PAPER BAG BACK

With "Group Soup." Children will be delighted to learn that the Paper Bag Players are coming back, this time with their original production, "Group Soup", which many kids will welcome back from its first presentation here some years ago.

The Players will give two performances in McCarter on Saturday, May 6, — one at 11 a.m. and the second at 2:30 p.m. Tickets for both are now on sale at the box-office.

The company was formed in 1958 to appeal to children in the five-to-ten-year age group with completely contemporary material. The "Bags" have evolved a revue kind of show, with songs, dances, short plays, pantomime and stories, all strung together in a kind of child-like free-association.

In place of costumes or sets, the "Bags" use everyday things like cardboard boxes, household objects — and paper bags.

CHURCH AND THE DRAM

Plays at Seminary. Four dramas will be presented as stage readings by students at Princeton Seminary starting next Monday, and continuing through next Wednesday. The public is welcome and the productions are free.

"The Word", by Kaj Munk, will open the series next Monday at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center auditorium. Karl M. Light is the director.

A drama about Danish country folk, "The Word" explores the power of true belief as opposed to the mere externals of faith. Munk, a Danish priest, was killed by the Nazis during World War II. Students in the cast are William Grimbol, Thomas Gibbons, Linda Block, Robert Sloane, Steven Melamed, Barbara Chaapel, Mark Laaser, Charles Silkie and Virstan Choy.

"Santa Claus," a modern morality by e.e. cummings, will be performed next Tuesday, at 10 a.m. in Miller Chapel. Actors will be John Masterson, Stephen Owen, Barbara Chaapel and Virginia Brockway.

"Cry Dawn in Dark Babylon" by Philip Turner, will be presented in the Campus Center auditorium at 8 p.m. next Tuesday. Robert Jacks is directing a cast consisting of Robert Sanders, Val Fowler, Claire Hale, Robert Hamm, Bruce Beck, Elizabeth Fowler, Susan Vogt and Christy Erway. The play examines the Bible in a materialistic civilization.

Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology" will be the final offering. It will be presented next Wednesday, May 3, at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center auditorium.

Ghosts in the town's graveyard will be played by Keith Conover, Robert Elder, John Grabner, Edward Halldorson, Harriet Hedgbeth, Jacqueline McRae, Dianna Pohlman, Manford Saunders, Timothy Shuba, Virginia Sullivan, Stephen Tischendorf and Silas Townsend. Musicians are Gail Anderson, Elizabeth Stone and Bertram Watkins.

TO HONOR B. F. BUNN

In Triangle Ceremonies. A memorial tribute to B. Franklin Bunn will be presented next Sunday, April 30, at 4:30 p.m. in McCarter Theatre by the trustees of Triangle Club.

Josh Logan, theatre producer and Pulitzer Prize winner, will be master of ceremonies. Mr. Logan served as president of Triangle in 1930-31.

Mr. Bunn was graduate treasurer of Triangle for over 60 years, and during that period went on 44 of the Club's annual tours. In his long lifetime, he also served on the graduate board of the Daily Princetonian, acted as treasurer for campus organizations besides Triangle, ran McCarter Theatre and the University Store. He is the only resident of Princeton to have served as mayor of both Borough and Township. He died last November.

After the tribute on April 30, a memorial plaque for Mr. Bunn will be dedicated in the McCarter Theatre lobby, and participants in the tribute will later attend the performance of "Blue Genes," this year's Triangle Club offering.

Fine Arts Quartet Charged with "Off Night"

The Fine Arts Quartet was heard at 10 McCosh Hall last week in the fourth concert of this 1971-72 season's chamber music series. Members of the quartet, Leonard Sorkin and Abram Loft, violins; Bernard Zaslav, viola; and George Sopkin, violincello; are artists in residence at the University of Wisconsin. The program consisted of the "Quartet in A Minor," Op. 41, No. 1 by Schumann; the first performance in Princeton of the "Quartet No. 3" (1969-70) by Milton Babbitt, and the "Quartet in C sharp Minor," Op. 131 by Beethoven.

Schumann composed three quartets, all within the Op. 41 set. No. 2, in F Major and No. 3 in A Major are better works in my opinion than the No. 1 in A Minor heard Thursday night, yet they appear less often on concert programs, for some unexplained reason.

This is not to say that the A Minor quartet is without quality. It is a fine composition, but somehow uneventful.

The Fine Arts Quartet presented a straight-forward reading of the work, but at times the intonation seemed wanting, but also on occasion, in the especially in the first violin, 'cello.

There was a shrillness to Mr. Sorkin's violin tone that tended to dominate the texture, offsetting the splendid middle register tones of Mr. Zaslav's viola playing, perhaps the strongest member of the group that evening. Mr. Loft on second violin, however, was solid also, and together, the two middle members of the quartet provided the most enjoyable passage work throughout the concert.

Serialized Composition. Mr. Babbitt's composition is in another world of sound patterns and texture. It is most likely serialized from a number of standpoints, i.e., arranged in sets of ordered permutations of rhythmic rows, ordered dynamics, (or intensity) and possibly from an ordering of idiomatic treatments of the string sonorities as well; this in addition to the more traditional concept of serializing the 12 tones themselves.

Having not had the opportunity to familiarize myself with the score or hear the music previously, I would think that any critical judgment would be premature, incompetent and a waste of everyone's time. Webern's early attempts at serial technique and his use of klangfarbenmelodie (a melody that can be derived from changing tone colors; a discovery of Schonberg's as far back as 1909) were considered "a-musical" to a majority of audiences and only now are his musical innovations beginning to be aesthetically accepted as art works by greater numbers of knowledgable music lovers.

Mr. Babbitt's work, seemingly influenced by Webern's (if not derivitive), may indeed have to wait a similar period for recognition. The Fine Arts Quartet, having undoubtedly spent many hours preparing the work, appeared to deliver a thoroughly competent performance as far as this listener can tell.

The final work of the program, Beethoven's famed "C Sharp Minor Quartet," was given an unsteady but occasionally inspired reading. The opening Fugue movement was played with broad sweeping tones as the musicians' conception of the arc-like structure of the piece was successfully realized.

The long Variation-like A Major movement is the most difficult section of the quartet to shape. It is often fragmentary and suggests aimlessness.

The Fine Arts Quartet tended to play a bit heavily on the dynamics throughout the movement, perhaps in an attempt to eliminate the meandering quality of the music. The dialogues between the various instruments, however, revealed the quartet's greatest strengths and weaknesses, the solid middle tones of the second violin and viola as opposed to the strident first violin and occasional flat-tonal quality (not pitch) of the cello.

The Fine Arts Quartet has sounded better in tune and more uniformly together as an ensemble in previous engagements. Let us suggest, then, that this may have been merely an off-night for this distinguished chamber group.

look at what he is — or was — capable of doing.

The first story, "All Through the House," details a Christmas Eve murder. "Reflection of Death" depends on the nightmare come true gimmick — an unfaithful husband running off with his new love suffers a fatal crash.

"Poetic Justice" is concerned with neighbors zeroing in on a poor old eccentric; "Wish You Were Here" finds a bankrupt couple granted three wishes by an Oriental statue, with resulting disaster and "Blind Alleys" tells of a home full of blind old men taking revenge on their military captain.

All of the stories are from the newsstand horror magazines "Tales from the Crypt" and "The Vault of Horror."

GARDEN

The Garden of the Finzi Continis (now playing) received the grand prize at the 1971 Berlin Film Festival and brought director Vittorio De Sica ("Bicycle Thief" and "Shoeshine" of the 1940's) back to public awareness.

The story is set just prior to World War II, when Mussolini was following Germany's lead in first discriminating against Jews, then removing them to concentration camps. The film focuses on two Jewish families — one very rich, powerful yet removed, the other middle class and involved. The counterpoint is the love of the son of the second family for the rich daughter of the first.

Dominique Sanda, the girl, is incredibly beautiful. She and Lino Capolicchio offer intense performances. The film itself is uneven, starting slowly and gaining interest at mid-point, with the last 20 minutes being extremely effective and touching.

ORGAN RECITAL SET

At Choir College Next Week. Organist Joan Lippincott will present the last Westminster faculty recitals of the 1971-72 series on Wednesday, May 3 in the Casavant Recital Hall at 7 and 8:30 p.m.

Because of the limited seating in the Recital Hall, tickets will be required for both recitals, and may be obtained without charge by calling the Choir College (921-7100) between 8:30 and 5.

Mrs. Lippincott, who is an associate professor of organ and head of the department, is currently completing work toward a Doctor of Sacred Music degree at the Union Theological Seminary School of Sacred Music. Her program will include Bach's "Toccato in F;" five pieces from F. Couperin's "Messe pour les Paroisses;" Olivier Messiaen's "Messe de la Pentecote," and "Prelude and Fugue on B.A.C.H." by Liszt.

FINAL CONCERT SUNDAY

At St. Andrew's Church. The 1971-72 Concert Series at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will present its final concert on Sunday evening at 7:30.

The program will be a performance of music for various combinations of instruments played by the Music House Concerts Chamber Ensemble of New York. The artists include Jesse Ceci, violinist; Bernard Wasser, bassoonist; and Barbara Wilson, double bassist.

The program includes a sonata for bassoon and bass by Telemann; the Bach Ciaccona for solo violin; a sonata for violin, bassoon and bass by Boddecker; a Duo for violin and bassoon by Beethoven; Caprice No. 24 for solo violin by Paganini; and a Divertimento for violin, bassoon and bass by Michael Haydn.

Jesse Ceci was a student of Efrem Zimbalist at the Curtis Institute, and later studied at Juilliard and in Paris. A former member of the Boston Symphony and the New York Philharmonic, he is currently on the faculty of New York University.

Bernard Wasser, a graduate of both Columbia and Juilliard, has been a member of the Buffalo Philharmonic and solo bassoonist of the Grant Park Symphony of Chicago and of the American Symphony Orchestra under Leopold Stokowski. His free lance activities include performances with such groups as the Metropolitan Opera, the New York City Opera and Ballet, and the Little Orchestra Society.

Barbara Wilson is a veteran of nine seasons at the Marlboro Festival. She has been a member of the Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Houston Symphony Orchestras, and since 1968 has been solo bass at the Bethlehem Bach Festival.

The public is invited to Sunday's concert. There is no admission charge, but a collection will be taken.

COLLEGE CHOIR TO SING

Sunday in Alexander Hall. The 50-voice Wagner College Choir from Staten Island will present a concert at 4 Sunday at Alexander Hall on the University campus.

Choir selections will include "Crucifixus" by Lotti, "Saviour" by Mendelssohn and Prelude for Voices by Schuman. The public is invited; a free will offering will be taken.

MAKE ME A CHILD AGAIN — JUST FOR TONIGHT

Remember when you were a kid? Remember picking a bunch of violets — or daisies — or dandelions. Remember when you took a bunch of flowers home in your sweaty fist and remember the love you expressed when you held them out to your Mother — and remember the love you received in return.

That's what is so great about flowers. In this whole crazy, cockeyed world — flowers haven't changed. Nor has love. You can make the magic happen all over again — tonight. You can pick out your flowers too — at Allen's — for a song. You might say a "Love Song."

EXPANSION DEBATED

For Police Committee. Should the Borough's Police Committee be expanded to include three more voting members -- two presumably black?

At an informal rap session last Thursday night in Borough Hall, the Civil Rights Commission proposal was debated for more than two hours, sometimes with heat, sometimes with wild accusations sometimes with measured argument.

The Police Committee is scheduled to tell Council its final recommendation at next Thursday's agenda session. Then it's up to Council to introduce the necessary ordinance or not.

Aside from charges that the proposal was part of a Communist global conspiracy to bury the free world, most opposition argument requested advisory members, rather than voting members. This would remove the "civilian-review board" stigma.

Robert Hendry, Borough Councilman who sits on the Police Committee, opposes the measure. It would mean delegating authority not only to civilians, but to people who are not elected officials, he declared. He asked for a referendum, if Council decides in favor of the proposal.

He also questioned the constitutionality of an ordinance specifying appointment of any one from a particular group such as blacks, but Mayor Robert W. Cawley said the ordinance would not make such a specification.

Communism? Mark Jones, 159 Library Place, asked why the ordinance was needed. "It's been stampeded through by people with an ax to grind," he declared. "Aggrieved people should have a chance at redress, but not at the expense of upsetting the community."

Fred C. Wegal of West Windsor read a lengthy statement by Edward Ahrens, 171 Westcott Road, charging that the proposal, along with attacks on and criticism of the police, was part of a Communist plot. These views were echoed by Mrs. Xavier von Erdberg, 84 Wilson Road, and by Mr. Jones who warned, "we are dupes of outside forces greater than we."

A spokesman for the Support Your Local Police Committee of Mercer County also asked for a referendum on the question.

Need Explained. In reply, Arthur Morgan, Borough Councilman who is Police Commissioner, explained to Mr. Jones that chiefly because of drug use, every family is now in a more intimate, daily contact with police than before, "often unpleasantly."

Police are more involved with the community, and this frequently means harshness, interrogation and jail. This hasn't been the case in the past," he continued. "We hope civilian members on this Committee might increase understanding on the police process, so that everybody doesn't jump down the throats of the police."

Comments about a Communist conspiracy are "debasing," stated Councilman Joseph Moore. "I am probably to blame for bringing this problem to the fore — the problem of race and the police has always been here. I have no personal vendetta against the police, but I see the need for change." Mr. Moore is black.

"Blacks are citizens with rights, and there is no desire to control the Police Committee or diminish it in any way, but to share," he said.

Civilians? To opponents of a "civilian review board," Max Blumenfeld, chairman of the Civil Rights Commission, pointed out that the present Committee is entirely civilian. (It consists of Mr. Morgan, Mr. Hendry, Mr. Moore, and Mayor Cawley and Administrator Robert F. Mooney, ex officio.)

Mr. Blumenfeld made an emotional plea for his Commission's proposal, asking "Why is it discriminatory to specify black appointees in the ordinance? Nobody protests when we appoint whites!"

When Nicholas Bartolina, 8 Tee-Ar Place, declared his opposition to the proposal and added, "Time will iron these problems out," several black members in the audience shouted, "You mean 300 years?"

Mr. Bartolino also asked Committee, "Why not Italian members?"

Praise for Police. Mayor Cawley praised Borough police, but added, "We do have a problem, and it permeates society. Something long bottled-up is now out in the open and this is good: more than one segment of the community feels the police aren't treating them fairly, so we think it's good to bring representatives inside, where they can see the aggravations police have to work under."

Asked to comment, Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan, due to retire August 1, said he disagreed with the idea of three voting members.

He pointed out that police fear civilian review, and he reminded the Police Committee that Borough police are "100 percent opposed to this, and I'm with them."

When Police Chief-Elect Michael Carnevale was asked for his view, he said with intense feeling:

"It turns me off to hear this rhetoric from organizations that don't represent the black community, the white community or the Princeton community — these John Birchers and people from West Windsor or Mercer County.

"I'd like to see an advisory board, not just for police — they're being made the whipping boy — but for the entire local government. We need help in undoing the problems — racial and others — of people who have never been able to relate to anything. We should band together, and not allow allow ourselves to be polarized."

Township Recyclable Program Starts Monday

Re-cyclable materials will be picked up from Township homes every two weeks starting next Monday, May 1 by the Rescue Mission under a free six-month trial program.

The new pick-ups will not in any way affect regularly scheduled Township garbage collections. Householders may participate in the new re-cyclable program or not, as they wish.

All re-cyclables will be picked up at the same time. There will not be separate collection days for glass or newspapers. At present, metals are not included but they may be in the future.

Materials should be placed in cartons, paper bags or other containers, and the Rescue Mission will dispose of unwanted containers.

Re-cyclables to be collected are:

NEWSPAPERS (to be tied in bundles).

MAGAZINES (tied in bundles and separated from newspapers).

CLEAR GLASS (cleaned, with metal rings and caps removed. Paper labels may be left on). COLORED GLASS (same).

The Township has been divided for curb-side pick-up according to Election Districts. Trucks will come by between 9 and 4.

Monday: Districts 2, 3, 9
Tuesday: Districts 5, 10
Wednesday: Districts 1, 4
Thursday: Districts 6, 7
Friday: Districts 8, 11

TO SPEAK AT PDS: State Sen. William E. of Elm Road and Stockton.

The second driver, Alexander C. Oliphant Jr., 73, of Yardley, Pa., told police that he was stopped on Elm behind a truck which made a left turn into Stockton and he did not see the Stefanelli car. Although the entire left side of his car was damaged, Mr. Oliphant escaped injury. He was ticketed by Ptl. James Agins for failing to yield after stopping.

It was raining and the roads were wet at the time of the mishap - 1:31 p.m.

Four persons from Trenton all received minor injuries early Saturday morning when their car ran off Route 206 near Mansgrove Road and struck a telephone pole.

Sandra A. Jarvie, 29, the driver, told Ptl. Olindo Carnevale that she swerved to the right to avoid hitting an unknown car coming in the opposite direction that had crossed over the center line.

Also injured were Ida Jarvie, 31; Brenda Jarvie, 12; and Debra Jarvie, 9. All were treated at Princeton Medical Center. The accident occurred at 1:31 a.m.

Cyclist Struck by Car. Peter W. Engelman, 21, Line Road, Belle Mead, suffered contusions and abrasions of the left knee and lower right leg when his motorcycle was struck from behind on Route 206 last week near Mansgrove.

He told police that his motorcycle was knocked out from underneath him by an unknown car which fled the scene. The victim and his cycle slid and rolled down Route 206 for 155 feet before coming to rest.

Mrs. Harrison Young

HEADMISTRESS NAMED

Mrs. Young Honored. Mrs. Harrison Young, headmistress of Chapin School, was elected a trustee of the New Jersey Association of Independent Schools at its April meeting at Lawrenceville School. Mrs. Young becomes one of six members of the governing board of this association, whose members include 45 schools.

Mrs. Young has been associated with Chapin School for 12 years, first as teacher and later as administrator. She began teaching math and social studies at Chapin to the 7th and 8th grades. She was head of the upper school until her appointment as headmistress in February, 1968. She has served on the Christian Education Committee of Trinity Parish and all Saints Chapel and is a member of the Vestry of All Saints.

BOHEN TO RUN

In Congressional Primary. Frederick M. Bohen, 128 Fitzrandolph Road, a 35-year-old executive of the Ford Foundation, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress from New Jersey's new 5th District, which includes Princeton. Mr. Bohen is President of the Princeton Community Democratic Organization.

He conceded that he was the underdog in the June 6 primary. The Democratic field is already occupied by two candidates from more populous Morris County. He said, however, that the response through out the District to his possible candidacy had been encouraging.

During the contested primary, Mr. Bohen will take an unpaid full-time leave-of-absence from the Ford Foundation, where he was recently named Director of a new program of Research studies in Public Policy and Social Organization. For the last three years, he has worked as Assistant to Ford Foundation President Mc George Bundy, with special concern and responsibility for problems of higher education, communications, and government and law.

"AUCTION ETC."

On April 29. Auction Etc., an annual event at the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill and State Roads, is set for Saturday, April 29, chairman Larry Yermack reports.

Hours are 10 to 4, with the auction beginning at 11. The boutique will again include many items especially designed and made for Auction Etc. There will be a flea market, an art gallery, and, new this year, a midway for children of all ages.

Chairmen for Auction Etc. events include Marion and Bob Brown, food concession; June and Bryant Walworth, boutique; Gail Filion and Sally Easter, plants; Nancy and Joe Boyd, books and records; Jan Flaugher gourmet; Ruth and Harry Tomlinson, toys; June Walworth, stationery; Meryl Holsberg, silent serivces auction; Joanne Augustine and Susan Elliot, art gallery; Nancy and Richard Stone, flea market; Maru Marilyn and Enoch Durhon, sports equipment; Christine and Ray Howe, children's entertainment, and Jordan Young, midway.

SALE THIS SATURDAY

For Rhododendron Hybrid. Specimens of an exceptionally handsome rhododendron hybrid developed a half-century ago but never before offered to the public will be among the items available at the 10th annual sale of the Princeton Chapter of the American Rhododendron Society.

The brand-new offering, entitled Pink Sparkler, was originated by the noted hybridizer Charles O. Dexter in the 1920s on his Cape Cod estate. A number of other hard-to-get Dexter hybrids also will be obtainable at the sale, to be held on the grounds of the Hun School in Princeton. The sale will run for one day only, on Saturday, April 29, from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M.

Marital Status Irrelevant.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Two weeks ago, I registered to vote in Princeton Borough. I was asked whether I was Miss or Mrs.

When I replied that I was Ms., the person who registered me said that I could not register unless I declared myself one of the first two. I noticed on the form that marital status was not required for men, and that each time a woman votes she is required to restate her marital status when she signs.

This is patently ridiculous. It adds no interesting data to voter records, it is preferential (or at least differential) treatment of voters by reason of their sex, and it reaffirms that society persists in its ideas that a woman is defined more by her relationship to men than by any other characteristic she may have.

When I go to the polls, I intend to refuse to state my marital status, and I intend to seek legal recourse if my right to vote is abridged because of this requirement which is made only of females. I urge all other women in Princeton to do the same.

Teachers' Ad "Unauthorized."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On reading last week's paper, I was dismayed to see a large ad raising questions on school administration signed by the Prioceton Regional Education Association. I do not understand how anyone could feel that the name of the association could be used without consulting the membership. On inquiry I learned that the executive committee had taken this action but the ad did not bear the name of the committee, but that of the association as a whole.

I am a member of the teaching staff and of the P.R.E.A. I feel these questions are objectionable and misleading. I object to having them asked in my name and paid for with money partially contributed (by way of dues) by me.

I feel it is time for this community to know that there are teachers who support the administration and dislike all this wrangling. We are fortunate that Dr. Wertheimer was willing to accept a position in this "war town" community. It would be a great loss to us all if she should leave.

McPherson's Contradictions.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Curious contradictions between Dr. McPherson's educational philosophy and his actual policies and programs are becoming and more obvious.

Repeatedly Princeton hears Dr. McPherson stress the importance of every child developing a sense of personal power, confidence and competence. And yet when it was revealed a month ago, that 86 PHS Freshmen (out of 376) read with extreme difficultly, the Supt. and the school board majority angrily reacted ONLY to the fact that the problem had been made public. HOW did the parents find out? WHO told them? Those were their prime concerns!

The failures and misery and loss of self conwidence of the 86 children was not important. The failure of Special Services to identify and involve the 86 children in special help programs was not important. The failure of our educational system to teach a basic skill - reading - was not important. Not one of the "professional educators" questioned how 86 children reached high school unable to read! And, the possibility of examining and strengthening the programs responsible was never suggested!

It is exactly this shallow, hollow, cavalier attitude of the Supt. and the school board majority that has Parent's objecting, angry and determined.

It is said that to be forwarned is to be forarmed. Parents and students may ponder this:

The superior sounding staff/student ratio of 1/25 proposed for next year is more "sounding" and very little superior. Staff count includes aides, nurses, social workers, etc. Alheit they are needed and wanted but they are not certified teachers and counting them is not going to bring class sizes down to 25 students. We will continue to have 35-40 students in numerous classes. We will continue to have pressured, dissatisfied teachers who know they are not doing the educating job they can do and want to do.

Quality education, inspired teaching, and individual attention to students is impossible with class sizes over 26 students.

The school board majority and the Superintendent maintain that it hurts them to have to cut back teaching staff. They also claim that teacher cut backs are necessary because of a tight budget.

Have you heard the school board majority or the Superintendent suggest that administrative jobs be cut in number? Have you heard them suggest that some of the silly, costly, so-called staff development programs be dropped? Have you heard them suggest that one of the largest Special Services staffs in the state could be cut back? Have you heard them suggest that the Wednesday Program which no other school system can afford, be dropped?

You have not!

So the McPherson goals of student power, confidence, and competence provided by quality education are not, apparently, Dr. McPherson's real priorities.

What's up, Doc?

Beneficial Work Program.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The concern of the educational community over the axing of the Distributive Education course was matched by that of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce in a statement at last week's (April 18) meeting of the Board of Education.

It takes only a brief shopping excursion to note that the number of PHS students involved in retail selling is much larger than the 32 currently enrolled; perhaps this program should be expanded - not curtailed.

Both the Chamber of Commerce members and the student workers could use the D-E program for mutual gains. Supervision of work and work habits, including dress, grooming, and personality factors should be a shared responsibility of the school and business establishments.

Credit should be given whether the course is elected by an academic student (pre-merchandising, art, or journalism majors) or vocational students (terminal education). Since the students involved generally cannot claim adult status, the school could also assume a mediator's role in any problems of employer-employee relations.

The monetary factors would be surprisingly low since the state reimburses 100% of equipment and 50% of instructional costs upon application of the school district.

Perhaps the outstanding contribution an enlarged DE program could make would be to convince the community that the high school can be comprehensive and would like to serve local business with the same fervor given college admission officials!

The Right of Decisioo.

To the Editor of Towo Topics:

I am responding to the letter by Alda Atkinson (Town Topics, April 13) who was against abortion as a solution to an unwanted pregnancy. Mrs. Atkinson proposes that a woman who finds herself in this situation contacts Birthright which will "attempt to convince her to have her baby, giving her whatever she needs. . ."

Further, Mrs. Atkinson claims to have concern for the life and welfare of the unborn child. I would like to take issue with these two points.

First, what right does any organization, no matter how noble its cause, have to convince anyone of anything. A woman faced with an unwanted pregnancy has an important decision to make regarding her life.

She should be aware of all alternatives, but the decision should be hers to make. She should not be convinced or coerced.

Further, Birthright might claim concern for the unborn, but what of the born? Who will be around years later to counsel an unloved child?

Who will be around to offer medical and legal assistance to an unemployed, unmarried mother? Who will be around to offer guidance to a confused, rejected teen-ager.

Mrs. Atkinson's solution to an unwanted pregnancy is not so simple as she implies; an unwanted pregnancy is a personal problem which requires an individual solution. A woman should have the freedom to make that decision. A woman should be free to have a child regardless of her marital status but equally important is her right to abortion.

Mayor, Council Praised.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter I have sent to the Mayor and Council of Princeton Borough.

MARGEN PENICK
Chairman
Conservation Commission

Gentlemen:

Congratulations to Mayor Cawley and the Princeton Borough Council on the formation of the new Princeton Borough Conservation Commission.

The preservation of our environment is one of the major tasks of our era. The new Commission will increase citizen involvement in the search for solutions to ecological problems which effect each one of us.

The Princeton Township Conservation Commission is looking forward to working with the new Commission.

Write to Washington.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Many times, in an institution like a university, the employees are among the least vocal groups represented. However, as employees of Princeton, we do have voices and want to join other groups in expressing our opposition to the war in Indo-China and our dismay over this past week's intensification of bombing by the United States.

Consequently we are circulating the following letter among the women employees of Princeton, which we will send to Senators Clifford Case, Harrison Williams, and our Representatives Peter H. B. Freylinghuysen and Frank Thompson:

"We the undersigned women employed by Princeton University, dismayed by the escalation of bombing in Vietnam, urge you to take immediate action in our Congress to end all U.S. military activity in Indo-China NOW by supporting the End-the-War Bills S 409 and HR 14,055.

"We are convinced that this action is absolutely necessary to release our individual consciences from responsibility for the wholesale destruction of life and land, in opposition to our real national security. We firmly believe that only this action will return our prisoners of war to their families and free our minds and resources for the resolution of the crying problems of our own society."

We urge other individuals and groups who oppose the continuation of this war to write our representatives in Washington in support of End-the War legislation, and to work in other ways for peace.

NANCY C. DAMON

Fanaticism the Real Danger.

To the Editor of Towo Topics:

It should be pointed out to Mr. Edward Ahrens (Town Topics, April 20) that to question the conduct of our public servants is a valuable function to which every citizens is entitled, and one which must be continually exercised if the forces that govern us are to remain democratic.

It is hard to see what threat a civiljan review board offers to a police force that is properly carrying out its duties.

May I suggest to Mr. Ahrens, as well as to the radical left, that to support the police without question, as well as to denounce them out of hand, is better described as fanaticism — the real danger to democracy.

To label supporters of civilian reiew "communistic" represents an incredible distortion; it is blind acceptance of authority that distinguishes communism. Let all of us, Mr. Ahrens included, remember and never forget: eternal vigilance is the priee of liberty.

Per Pupil Costs Excessive.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Towa Topics March 2d revelation that the Princeton schools spend $1,724 per year per pupil gave me quite a jolt, the reason being that I had just read figures from the NEA to the effect that the average national expenditures range from $463 in Alabama to a high of $1,245 in New York.

I would be more than happy if the above figures were proved incorrect or misleading. But if they are correct, I cannot help but wonder WHY our school system must spend about $500 more than the state highest average — and still indicates there is not enough money.

I am fairly certain most people in Princeton are not really aware of this situation. And I think it would be only fair to give the comparable state-and nation-wide figures on the ballots in the next budget election, spelling out the reasons why we must spend so much more than possibly all other districts in the country.

An uninformed vote is not a good vote.

Recycling Starts Well.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Wednesday, April 19, was the beginning of an exciting new era in Princeton: The first curb-side pick-up of recyclable materials in Princeton Borough resulted in the collection of over a ton of green glass. This glass, thanks to the efforts of Princeton residents and the Borough government, did NOT go into one of New Book Sale a Great Success.

To the Editor, Towa Topics:

The Bryn Mawr Club of Princeton would like to thank each individual who contributed in any way to the astonishing success of this year's Bryn Mawr Book Sale. The Book Sale's achievement is truly the result of outstanding community effort.

Jersey's dwindling and already over-loaded landfill sites, but was instead taken to Freehold where it will be recycled into new glass.

Despite resident confusion due to Clean-Up Week, to chan-ges in the garbage scheduling, and to the normal uncertainties that accompany any new and untested program and habit, the green glass collection was a singular environmental success.

Recycling is an exercise in caring. As it becomes increasingly clear that something in our cultural patterns has to give, it becomes a small gesture to save commodities which we can no longer afford to call waste.

An aluminum can, a product of energy and non-renewable resource consumption, is no longer a thing to be tossed lightly "away". The age of gross consumption and waste, of disregard for the world's fragile and finite qualities, has passed and the age of concern, of re-use and recycling has come.

More WORK? If rinsing food containers, flattening a few cans per day, and providing space for the storage of clean recyclables is considered work, that it IS work.

Worth the EFFORT? If such a level of effort is too much to ask of any single household, then future and more crucial and challenging adjustments on larger environmental issues haven't a chance! If small changes in individual housekeeping will not be considered, the hopes for more sane global housekeeping are dim indeed.

Recycling should easily become a routine part of every household in the community. A small amount of effort and planning time should establish the pattern. Whether it is done with cardboard boxes and paper bags or whether it is done with central apartment containers for the use of many, the fact remains that this program is a personal attack on the cultural pattern of waste. It makes kitchen management infinitely cleaner and neater, and is a very real step towards better management of the planet Earth.

Teach Foreign Langunges

To the Editor of Town Topics:

When philosophy rises from the pocket book, it becomes a cloud of unknowing. Any partially conscious citizen has become aware of how economic and political pressures have exerted their self-rationalizing influences on public life and, most dramatically, in educational circles.

Beginning with Sputnick and the once famous and startling Conant Report in the 50's, we came to realize (philosophize?) that our country's Public Schools were wholesaling a bland, all-too-palatable product, part "shop," part "typing," part "homemaking," part social science filler, and very little of what Conant called "hard core" subjects: the theoretical sciences and foreign languages.

The Federal Government panicked. It enacted the National Defense Education Act which hoped to redress the balance and, more than incidentally, bring us abreast of foreign countries whose students came away from secondary schools with eight years of foreign language and as much or more science. Schools of Education, the bastions of what were taken to be Dewey's and Kirkpatrick's permissive theories, were purged or abolished.

Since then, we have experienced ironic reversals of "philosophy," but no reasoning as cogent as Conant's has come along to supply a rationale for the change. Yet once again students are flooding into the social sciences; colleges are dropping educational requirements, creating vacuums in those hard core subjects that nevertheless remain as crucial as they were in Conant's time.

The economic "crunch" that School Board member Winthrop Pike speaks of has been brought about by a good deal of political and social mismanagement. That, for the moment, may be beyond our control. But when member George Fitzgerald observes that tight money often makes for good evaluation, he sounds like the slave who blesses his chains.

It is one thing to be an unwitting pawn and a victim, another to celebrate victimization and poverty as a school for wisdom. In any case, when the new values drawn from his wallet tell him that Foreign Language Teaching in Elementary School is a waste of time, he demolishes in one careless stroke all the slow, painful efforts of language teachers over the past 15 years to make our country less insular and more immediately aware of foreign thought and sensibility.

Compounding Mr. Fitzgerald's baleful theory of evaluation from economic premises, Dr. Powsner introduces his own enlightening theory: "If dollars are scarce, why teach a student French if he can't speak English?')' (Why in fact teach him to speak at all if he can't think?) The fact is of course that teaching a foreign language doesn't preclude teaching English, and the opposition exists only in Dr. Powsner's mind, or, rather, his wallet.

What the American student gains from knowledge of a foreign language and culture is not replaceable by a knowledge of English. Foreign language study frees and expands a consciousness otherwise trapped in the linguistic and cultural structures of perception and thought that any native language and culture enforce automatically.

Any bilingual speaker knows that he thinks and feels differently in the two languages he handles. I do not know if Dr. Powsner can understand this, but it underlies any humanistic argument in favor of foreign language teaching, and in my own mind this humanistic purpose or function is more important than Conant's more pragmatic but equally valid theories of its positive use.

In the general mood of irrationality, the panic generated by people who are elected to school boards on the promise of saving our money instead of on the wisdom of their educational theories, it may seem supererogatory to argue that money, however scarce, still has to be spent wisely.

DANCE COMMITTEE: Planning a "Spring Fling" for the University League is a committee composed (from left) of Mrs. Charles Westoff, Mrs. Garth Wilkes, Mrs. Allen Kassof, the chairman, and Mrs. Norman Ryder. It will take place Saturday, May 13, at 7:30 at Prospect on the Princeton campus. League members and their guests may make reservations through Mrs. Kassof.

NOTICE

Letters to TOWN TOPICS' "Mailbox" should be typed, double-spaced, signed and received for publication no later than Monday. No letter will be printed without a valid signature and address. Letters longer than 500 words may be edited or omitted entirely, at the discretion of the editor. Letters on subjects not specifically related to the Princeton area may also be rejected.

I hope that the foreign language staffs of the Princeton schools, so long a model in program and teaching, will produce more theoretical arguments to save us from ourselves and to fight off those public servants who ingenuously appeal to our pockets instead of our minds and hearts.

Boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Myers, 201 Loetscher Place, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown, 253 Monmouth Street, Hightstown, both on April 16; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nally, 16 Sunset Road, Lawrenceville, April 17; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hopkins, 18-E Stanworth Drive, April 18; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hamilton, 15 Benford Drive, Princeton Junction April 19; Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Di Donato, 326 Ewing Street; Mr. and Mrs. Michael De Louise, 341 Stillwells Crossing Road, Freehold; Mr. and Mrs. James Bergman, 5 Merritt Lane, Rocky Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Oberhein, 7 Hathaway Drive, Princeton Junction, all on April 20; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schweiring, B-8 Abbington Road, Hightstown, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Steinmetz, 235 Sherwood Avenue, Mercerville, both on April 22.

Girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Lyle, Surrey Drive, Belle Mead, April 17; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kogan, 246 Princeton Arms N. Cranbury, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rutherford, 192 Bertrand Drive, both on April 18; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Henry, 130-0 North Gate Apartments, East Windsor, April 19; Mr. and Mrs. H. Barton Gray, 47 N. Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell, April 20; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hoyer, Lambertville, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Steinfast, 477 Livingston Drive, East Windsor, both on April 21, and Mr. and Mrs. Kon Ho Cho, 51 Crescent Avenue, Rocky Hill, April 22.

HUGE KITES, as well as small ones, are being made for the Princeton Day School's annual fair, which this year celebrates the Year of the Mouse. Above are Mrs. Huson Gregory and Mrs. Robert Barton, co-chairmen of the decorations committee, and James Haba at work in the school gym. Fair is set for Saturday, May 13.

LONGER SEASON ASKED

For Wading Pools. A request to keep the wading pools in Princeton open until Labor Day will be met, according to R. Donald Barr, head of the Recreation Deaprtment — if the necessary added funds can be found.

Wading pools are located at Pine Street, John Street and the Grover Park, Erdman Avenue and Harrison Street playgrounds. The pools are currently scheduled to close August 11 with the exception of the Harrison Street pool which will remain open an extra week.

With the Recreation Department's application for two additional platform tennis courts plus two bocci, two handball and one basketball court approved by both Borough Council and Township Committee, the next step, Mr. Barr said, is before the Site Review Board and Regional Planning Committee.

Cost is $44,000. All the proposed courts will be located on the south side of Community Park.

In other matters, the department has decided to assess non-Princeton residents participating in the Adult Softball League $5 to help defray the cost of play, and has announced the appointment of Mrs. Richard Thompson to the Recreation Board.

Mrs. Thompson will succeed Mrs. Lisa Lesher, who resigned last month.

SEWER COSTS EXPLAINED

To West Windsor Residents. West Windsor residents found out last Thursday night what most of them already knew to be the case: the new regional sewage services won't come cheaply.

Speaking at the monthly West Windsor Forum, the West Windsor representative to the Stonybrook Regional Sewage Authority, Malcolm Roszel, estimated costs to township residents.

Before the end of the decade homeowners with sewers will be paying about $150 annually.

Those without, who live outside the northeastern quarter to be serviced by the new system, will still be assessed about $30 a year to pay off the bond on the main trunk line.

To pay for the connector line running along the front of their property, homeowners will be charged an initial $1,015 per $7,000 of assessed land.

Taxpayers' assessments could be higher if the sewer authority's grant applications to the state and federal governments do not come in as planned. The cost estimates Mr. Roszel mentioned all assume construction will begin in 1974.

The government could delay its grants while construction costs rise about 12% annually. Or the grants could cover only 60% of the total $43 million cost, when the authority is counting on getting 80%.

Another cost to the homeowner is the individual tie up from the house to the connector line. Each homeowner will arrange this personally; hire a plumber, do-it-himself, or contract out with the entire neighborhood. Developments built since 1969 have dry sewer lines already laid and paid for.

Although service contracts are not even written for this system, the township is already looking ahead to servicing other areas.

Hamilton Square is studying an expanded regional sewer which another quarter of West Windsor may look up to. As the township develops, their new trunk line may be extended into additional areas. Costs for each area, it is hoped, will be shared by the entire township.

AWARDS NIGHT PLANNED

By Children's Home Society. The Children's Home Society will hold its 16th annual Awards Night Wednesday, May 3, to honor those people who become foster parents. These parents take infants two days old, and care for them for six weeks to three months, until they join a family through adoption.

This year, couples who have served as foster parents for 5, 10 and 15 years will be awarded pins. Several families have already welcomed infants into their homes for over 25 years and one family has given 31 years to helping children begin life in a healthy fashion.

In 1947 the foster parents formed their own club which has as its motto: "Where there is room in the heart, there is room in the home". The present group of 36 families includes a doctor, a lawyer, engineers, teachers, a minister, factory workers, supervisors, and several in business for themselves. They are scattered within a radius of 35 miles of Trenton; but all feel they have a common second home at the Children's Home Society Headquarters, 929 Parkside Avenue.

Foster parents mean fathers as well as mothers, and fathers not only attend meetings but they also serve as officers on the executive committee. There is a close tie between the ageney and the club. The club has grown from dependency on the Children's Home Society to a fairly independent status, with an Agency representative serving only in an advisory capacity.

Much of the club's activity consists of fund-raising for the Ageney, and the members have donated a great deal of furnishings and equipment to the Children's Home Society.

TWO COURSES OFFERED

By Red Cross. The Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross will offer a water safety instructor course at the Peddie School in Hightstown, to be taught by Miss Susan Mapes, newly appointed Red Cross instructor trainer.

The course will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday for three weeks beginning Monday, May 8. Registration will be limited to 25 students.

Persons 17 and older are eligible, if they have passed the Red Cross Senior Life Saving course within the last three years. Thirty hours are required for the course and examination.

A Red Cross First Aid Instructor's Course is scheduled to start Tuesday at 220 East Pyne on Princeton Campus. Classes will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesday, Thursday, May 4, Tuesday May 9, Thursday, May 11 and Tuesday, May 16. This fulfills the course requirement of 15 hours, and attendance is required every night for satisfactory completion of the course.

Enrollment is open to those who hold a current Red Cross Advanced First Aid certificate. School teachers who have had First Aid Training may become authorized by attending the three hour teacher orientation portion of the course.

Registration is by telephone to the Princeton Red Cross, 924-2404 for either course.

LUNCHEON, TOUR SET

TRY EASY CARE

In Outdoor Furniture. You can put your garden and patio furniture outdoors right now and not worry about rain and rust—if you bave the metal furniture from Nassau Interiors.

Loveseats, chairs,. tables teacarts, coffee tables and low end tables all come in weather-proof, rust-proof metals. "The idea is that it is carefree," Leonard La Placa told us. The prices on some are reduced, so that helps the carefree feeling, too.

The colors are lovely—bright yellows, olive greens, antiqued black, parrot green, white and a soft blue. And tbere is a reasonable variety in the metal work accents in traditional scrolls and curves or contemporary geometric lines.

A rather surprising group appears to be wrought iron, but is actucally aluminum. All of the pieces have expanded metal—or mesh-seats, backs and table tops. The loveseat has matching chairs, some with arms and a sleigh base, others are a long, comfortable flow of banded mesh from back to seat, supported by straight legs.

The pedestal table in this group has a striped umbrella for days when the sun is brutal. Choose olive green-and-beige, or orange-and-beige. The furniture is available in antiqued black, olive green, or white.

The yellow wrought iron table caught our attention, with its cheery color and round top of tempered glass. The glass is mottled and slightly opaque, which should please those who find clear glass tops disconcerting at mealtime. "The glass is beat resistant and practically unbreakable," Mr. La Placa says reassuringly. Size is about 54-inches in diameter, which would seat six to eight people with no problems.

SPACE SAVER: Nassau Interiors has a snug little cafe table with two matching chairs for small corners in houses and patios. Decorator Cheryl Moyer rests her arm on the opaque glass top. The cafe set is mnde of wrought iron, painted in your choice of four colors.

There are some lacy look, ice cream parlor chairs in wrought iron. The cafe set of two chairs and a glass-topped pedestal table comes in parrot green, sun yellow or light blue. The table is 30-inches in diameter, just right for a small patio, and the chairseats are padded and covered in an abstract print. ($69)

We found traditional wrought iron dining tables, rectangular in shape and glass-topped, with matching chairs. There's an elegant barbecue in wrought iron. It's a cart, actually, if you're feeling sturdy, with a built-in grille at one end topped with a dome lid, and a sizeable chopping board inset next to it.

Nassau Interiors also has some delightful ceramics for dressing up the patio flower pots with colorful cache pots. There are also ceramic frogs—in three sizes— a huge ceramic turtle, a snail and a very small zebra.

Italian imports just in feature ceramics, too, in simple, clear colors of spring and summer, or in bold blends and patterns. This is a very exciting collection, accented with matching ashtrays that are generously sized. Lamp prices range, according to lamp size, from $30 to $58, and this includes the vinyl pleated shade.

Nassau Interiors also has the original Pawley's Island rope hammocks—in a choice of three sizes.

A BATCH OF NEW SHOPS

In Hopewell. We think you will want to know about Duck Soup, The Potteria, The Purse Strings and Soupe de Jour, all winging out to the rear of the Tomato Factory in Hopewell.

It is a flowing congenial sort of arrangement. You go through Maurice Browning's decorator fabric collection on to Duck Soup, a gourmet cookwear and gifts shop, and to the Potteria with its Portugese imports, and then onto The Purse Strings where you can get a man's sport jacket for $22 or a woman's dress for $6. And end up at tiny Soupe de Jour with a hearty gourmet soup, cheeses and fruits.

To take them in their order, Duck Soup is a project of Judy Weiss, who has moved into cookware because "I just like to cook!" If you enjoy veal Condon Bleu or Steak Diane, Judy Weiss is your kith and kin. "I love to make sauces and they're my downfall.".

The name Duck Soup comes from the hunters' skiff that is filled with gift ideas for the sportsmen: There are antique type decoys and paired miniatures especially made for the shop. We noticed a pheasants-and-geese accent to a number of things—even quail pattern china. We saw gift ideas for bridal showers, house warmings and bridge parties, from calico-lined tote bags with appliques, to sloganed pot holders and aprons; copperwear that is pretty, functional—and not hard to take care of; Le Cruset cookware, which Judy Weiss likes because it is a heavy enameled cast iron that conducts heat well. Cook books, slotted spoons and much more all reasonable priced.

The Potteria is run by Geraldine Dent. Here you find hand painted tiles (4 inches square) from Portugal. Also very attractive plates in the salad or dessert size ($4.50). There is a good choice of patterns.

Unusual pieces include oyster plates in pure white, with the shell shapes indented to keep things under control. There's also a green-toned platter shaped like cabbage leaves. We saw large pots in interesting designs for your favorite fern or rose tree and in thick clear glass from Austria, rectangular boxes for flower arrangements, or whatever you may think of. ($16.)

The Purse Strings is a low-low price free-for-all that leaves you slightly amazed. Look for the classic clothes that stay in style.

"We buy very, very good clothes from very, very good stores when they have finished their sales," Janet Steinberg told us. "We travel the East Coast."

In a comfortably spaced-out area where coffee and tea are hospitably offered, we found men's sport jackets ($22), suits ($35) and even a Palm Beach suit at $35. The brands are well known. Sizes 35 to 48 are available in the jackets.

Misses' and women's dresses start at $7.50, and included are name labels of New York designers. You have to hit a lucky day for the latter. All are of good quality. Sizes go from 3 to 22. Knit dresses, usually $30 to $55 in the stores are available at $10 to $160.

The Purse Strings has children's play clothes - jeans were $2 when we were there on a special sale price. We also saw leather sandals, and Mrs. Steinberg told us that sneakers for children and adults are due in. The shop has been re-stocked at least four times since it opened two months ago.

Soupe de Jour was started by Valerie Hartshorne and Frances Young on a rainy day in March. In spite of the weather, the tiny restaurant had a great opening and has been going strong ever since. There is room for 15 customers at a sitting on the little porch that has been converted to a charming restaurant. The menu is a hearty, homemade soup — a different one each day — accompanied by all sorts of interesting garnishes.

As the weather warms, there may be a choice of two soups, one hot, one cold. They began with a "lovely zucchini soup," Mrs. Young recalls, "and the garnish was a sort of parmesan-sour cream thing with a little garlic. I guess we also had slivered almonds and parsley."

Other soups include Canadian split pea, hunters' chowder, corn and fish, puree mongol muligatawney and fish chowder — the latter is made with fresh mussels and Irish moss which Mrs. Young brings from Martha's Vineyard.

Mrs. Hartshorne, who frankly loves to cook, adds, "We're trying all these soups to see what people like." In the future, they'll have soups to take out.

Hours of the shops are 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Soupe de Jour is open 12 p.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday through Friday. Duck Soup is closed on Mondays. The Purse Strings is also open Thursday evenings.

planned by Sr. Mary Oswald, Director of Food Services for the school together with Peter Vielbig, Director of Princeton Food Management.

Following the luncheon and tour, guests will be shown a slide tape about the school. Members of the faculty and students of grades 9-12 will serve as hostesses.

Reservations, which are limited, can be made by calling the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross at 924-2404 before 4 p.m. on Friday, April 28.

While all senior citizens in the greater Princeton area are invited, residents of the Borough, Township and West Windsor Township may request transportation by Red Cross volunteers to and from the school. A $1 donation to the school for the luncheon is suggested, but a smaller amount is just as welcome.

The Council of Community Services and the Red Cross have worked with Sisters Pratt, Wolfinton and McMullen of the Stuart School in coordinating plans for the senior citizen luncheon.

ALUMNI DAY PLANNED

By Princeton Day School.

More than 150 alumni of Princeton Day School and its predecessor schools, Miss Fine's and Princeton Country Day, are expected to attend the first annual Alumni Day at the Day School Saturday, April 29.

Highlighting the program will be a panel discussion by alumni on "Independent Education and Public Service". Alumni panelists include Christian A. Chapman, Director for Military Assistance and Arms Sales, Department of State; New Jersey State Senator William E. Schluter; Princeton Township Mayor John D. Wallace; Mrs. Catherine Otis Farrell of the Co-operative Education Department at LaGuardia Community College and Miss Susan Jamieson who served two years in the Peace Corps.

Alumni Association President Mrs. Stuart V. Willson, Jr. has invited the faculty and Upper School students to participate as well. Toby Knox, a 1958 graduate of PCD, will act as moderator.

Headmaster Douglas O. McClure will welcome the alumni and report briefly on the school. After the panel discussion, alumni will be free to tour the school and get a first look at the student work decorating the school for the annual Spring Arts Festival to be held the next day.

After luncheon, there will be an alumni-varsity tennis match and the day will conclude with a combined Glee Club-Orchestra concert in the Princeton Day School theater at 8 p.m.

"Walk-in-the-Park" This Sunday

Two of Princeton's "Open Space" parklands will be specially featured this year in a "Walk-in-the-Park" scheduled for Sunday afternoon by the Township Conservation Commission.

"Autumn Hill" on Herrontown Road, and the "Woodfield Reservation" on the Old Great Road, will be open from 2 to 4 to nature-lovers, wildflower specialists, families eager for a spring outing and anybody else who wants to get away from blacktop.

Maps will be available, and members of the Conservation Commission will be at both parks if anybody wants a guide.

"Autumn Hill" is the newest of the Open Space lands in terms of a good loop trail you can follow. The trail was built by YMCA Rangers.

Picnicking is invited in Autumn Hill, too, and later this spring, there will be picnic tables. Right now, there is drinking water and you can bring your own picnic lunch. Parking is provided on Herrontown Road, just above the Transcontinental Pipeline swath.

"Woodfield" is reached by turning left immediately after Princeton Day School, as you drive north on The Great Road. This is the 10th year of operation for this rocky, rugged, wooded park. Wildflowers are profuse throughout Woodfield, and there is a splendid "Council Rock" (used once by Indians?) if you take a one-mile trail from the parking area.

Incidentally, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts worked all winter clearing gypsy-moth egg cases from Woodfield—200 egg masses in a single afternoon was the record haul.

Mrs. Alan Carrick is chairman of the Woodfield Citizens Committee and Mrs. Robert Herling of the Autumn Hill Committee.

CONVERSIONS SOUGHT

By Princeton University.

Conversion of two single-family dwellings into multiple use will be sought Thursday evening by Princeton University at the monthly meeting of the Borough Zoning Board in Borough Hall.

The University hopes to convert a two and one-half frame dwelling at 37 William Street, located next to the University Press, into a dormitory for eight students complete with cooking facilities. The home, owned by the University, is in an E-1 zone and requires a conditional use authorization. The university also needs miscellaneous variances.

Although the conversion requires only two off-street parking spaces, the University proposed four. However, access and exit facilities are poor, according to a spokesman for the board.

To convert 35 University Place into a two family dwelling, the university again needs a conditional use variances and relief from several bulk requirements. The home is located in an R-4 zone, where two-family dwelling and conversions are permitted.

In 1950, the previous owners were granted zoning approval to convert the home into a two-family dwelling but never did so. Attorney John H. Dumont will represent the University in both applications.

Mr. and Mrs. James Crimmins of 287 Nassau Street will seek a variance to permit them to provide a parking space in their front yard area. Parking in a front yard is prohibited by the zoning ordinance.

In a final case, Gerald Silvester of Cranbury will return to seek permission to convert a former mover's warehouse at 44 Patton Avenue into three apartments.

Mr. Silvester was denied last month by the same board when he requested four apartments. The board cited high density and poor access in its ruling.

In reducing his request by one-fourth, Mr. Silvester reduces some of his violations and does not need as many variances. For example, he now can provide sufficient useable open space in his application.

His initial application was opposed by about a half-dozen families in the area.

PEOPLE In The News

A Princeton Day School student, Alison Hopfield, 183 Hartley Avenue, is one of 25 finalists to participate in a national space flight operation to be conducted next year.

The competition, conducted by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) in conjunction with the National Science Teachers Foundation, was open to high school students throughout the United States and abroad. Participating students were asked to design experiments or demonstrations for performance in space flight aboard the Earth orbital Skylab manned space station.

Miss Hopfield's experiment was entitled "Photography of Libration Clouds", in which she photographed two clouds of matter on the Moon's orbit, 60 degrees before and 60 degrees after the Moon, to gath er information about the depth and composition of these clouds.

NASA announced that 3,409 proposals were submitted by secondary school students. Twenty-five proposals were selected for final evaluation. The 25 student finalists and their teachers will attend the Skylab Student Education Conference at Kennedy Space Center, Florida when the Skylab is launched.

H. Holt Apgar Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Apgar, Cleveland Road West, Lawrence Township, has returned from his second tour in the Mediterranean as Communications Officer aboard the destroyer USS Corry. A 1969 graduate of Princeton University, he is now separated from active duty.

Braniff International has announced the promotion of Russell Thayer, 21 Lilac Lane, to executive vice president-corporate and market planning.

Mr. Thayer, 49, with 23 years experience in the airline industry, was elevated from his previous position as senior vice president-corporate and market planning which he has held since 1970.

Mr. Thayer previously was vice president marketing for Seaboard World Airlines, Inc., an international all-cargo carrier headquartered in New York. In this assignment he was responsible for company aircraft scheduling and market development.

A graduate of Princeton University, Mr. Thayer has held key positions in several airlines. He was with Eastern Air Lines from 1949-1952, and was a graduate of their special management training program. Thereafter, he joined American Airlines' sales department and held field operating, sales and services positions. Later he was in American's general offices participating in marketing and schedule planning areas.

Two Princeton area residents attending Muskingum College, New Concord, Ohio, will serve as Residence Hall Counselors for 1972-73.

They are: Raymond K. Pettus, son of Mrs. Catherine A. Pettus, 135 Jefferson Road, and Susan C. Stitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Stitt, 16 Jeffers Road, Plainsboro.

Navy Petty Officer Third Class Ken Jacobs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Jacobs, 277 Hawthorne Avenue, is attached to Anti - Submarine Patrol Squadron Five, home based in Jacksonville, Fla., and presently on deployment in Sigonella, Sicily. The squadron recently completed its 10th year of accident-free flying, a record unequalled by a patrol squadron in the Atlantic fleet.

Three Princeton area residents have been named to the Dean's List at Douglass College. They are: Susan M. Anderson, Bayberry Road, Hopewell Township; Margaret F. Rosenthal, 96 Mountain Avenue, and Katherine M. Finnegan, 87 Model Avenue, Hopewell.

Ambassador Henry L. T. Koren has received the Superior Honor Award from the U.S. Department for East Asian and Pacific Affairs. A native of Princeton who lived here for many years, he has retired after serving as political adviser to the Commander-in-Chief, Pacific, in Hawaii.

Mrs. I. Oliver Karraker of 28 Wittmer Court has been elected president of the State Division of the American Association of University Women. She is a member of the Princeton Branch AAUW. In her new office, she will preside over 51 branches with a total membership of 6,700.

Mrs. Karraker's husband is with Western Electric in New York as Manager, Quality Assurance, East. They have two married daughters, both graduates of Princeton High School and the University of Delaware.

Miss Beverly Ann Young, formerly of Rocky Hill, has been chosen "Sweetheart" of Chi Phi Fraternity at Oglethorpe University in Atlanta, Ga. Selected first out of 30 finalists, Miss Young is a 1971 graduate of Princeton High School where she was a Gold Key recipient. Daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Otto T. Young, Jr., of N. Greenwood Ave., Hopewell, Miss Young is completing her freshman year as a Liberal Arts student.

Nine Princeton area residents are among the more than 5,000 New Jersey high school seniors and college freshmen who have won scholarship awards of up to $500 a year from the state.

They are: William B. Aiman, 189 Longview Drive; Anthony P. Iacono, 84 Leigh Avenue; Jo E. Lavine, 38 Bank Street; Martha L. Logan, 109 Linden Lane; Bruce A. Richards, Amwell Road, Hopewell; Jacqueli W. Webster, 52 Titus Avenue, Lawrenceville; Margaret M. Zoog, Federal City Road, Pennington; Lisa L. Buckler, Griggstwon Road, Belle Mead; and Carole A. Bugge, Bunker Hill Road, Griggstown.

Two Princeton residents received degrees at the 122nd Commencement Exercises held last week by Beloit College, Beloit, Wis.

Mrs. Karen Denard Chang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Denard, 118 Winant Road, received a master of arts degree in teaching; and Timothy R. Morse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Morse, 717 Rosedale Road, received a bachelor's degree in sociology.

Two Rugers University professors will spend the next academic year in England and Swedeo in the international exchange program conducted by the Department of State under the Fulbright-Hays act.

Dr. Daniel Gorenstein, professor of mathematics at Rutgers College, and Dr. Favid Popenoe, associate professor of sociology at Douglass College, Princeton, will conduct research at Oxford University, England, and the University of Stockholm, Sweden, respectively.

As Fulbright Scholars the two will receive grants to support their work and will take leaves of absence from the State University.

Dr. Gorenstein, 82 Philip Drive, has been a member of the Rutgers College staff since 1969. Educated at Harvard, the mathematician has also taught at Clark University and at Northeastern University.

He is a specialist in finite groups and has published a book on that mathematical specialty. A member of Phi Beta Kappa and the American Mathematical Society, Dr. Gorenstein is also the author of numerous articles for mathematical journals.

Dr. Popenoe, 150 Loomis Court, has been a practicing city planner in Philadelphia and Newark, research director of the Urban Studies Center at Rutgers and a member of the urban planning department at Livingston College of Rutgers.

Educated at Antioch College and the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Popenoe has taught at Penn and at New York University. A specialist in community and urban sociology and social theory he is author and editor of books, monographs and numerous articles in those fields.

Dr. Edward C. Cox, 34-year-old Assistant Professor of Biochemical Sciences and Biology, a member of the Princeton University Faculty since 1967, has been named Associate Dean of the College and Director of Undergraduate Studies.

When Professor Cox, a native of British Columbia, enters upon his new administrative duties, Dr. John F. Wilson, Associate Professor of Religion and Assistant Dean of the College for the past six years, will begin a long-scheduled sabbatical leave and will then return to full-time teaching and research in the Department of Religion.

A specialist in the field of molecular genetics, in which he has published widely, Dr. Cox did his undergraduate work at the University of British Columbia, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science in 1959. He earned his doctoral degree in biochemistry at the University of Pennsylvania and completed three years of post-doctoral study at Stanford University before coming to Princeton.

The nine-member Board, established in 1959, is charged with forming policies for the acceptance and administration of research grants and contracts throughout the University and has general supervision over implementation of such policies. In carrying out Board policies, its administrative arm, the Office of Research and Project Administration, assists departments and faculty members in the development of support for and the administration of research projects.

Professor Judson, 53, combines a lifelong interest in geology, geomorphology (the evolution of the landscape) and the geologic antiquity of man with teaching undergraduate and graduate courses. His recent research has focused in part on the interrelationship between geology and human activity, particularly, as he describes it, "the influence of man on geological processes."

Graduating from Princeton in 1940 with Honors in Geology and earning his advanced degrees at Harvard, Professor Judson in 1961 — as a Guggenheim Fellow studied the interrelationship of the physical environment and human occupancy during Etruscan, Greek and Roman times. His researches have been supported by a number of foundations and institutions, including the American Philosophical Society and the Smithsonian Institution.

Fellowship awards amounting to $3,819,100 have been awarded by the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation to eight members of the Princeton University Faculty, who are among 372 scholars, chosen by the Committee of Selection from among 2,506 applicants in the Foundation's 48th annual competition.

Those receiving awards and their proposed studies are: Dr. David R. Coffin, 143 McCosh Circle, Howard Crosby Butler Memorial Professor of the History of Architecture: Renaissance villas and gardens; Dr. Vincent G. Deithier, Pretty Brook Road, Class of 1077 Professor of Biology: Studies in the neurophysiological basis of behavior; Dr. Edmund Keeley, 140 Littlebrook Road, Professor, Council of the Humanities and Department of English: A critical study and biographical portrait of C. P. Cavafy; and Dr. Suzanne Keller, 575 Herrontown Road, Professor of Sociology: The influence of space on human behavior.

Also, Dr. Donald S. McClure, 23 Hemlock Circle, Professor of Chemistry: Experimental and theoretical studies in physical chemistry; Dr. Arthur B. Pardee, 84 N. Stanworth Drive, Donner Professor of Science: Studies of tissue culture; Dr. Stuart C. Schwartz, 3 Glenview Drive, Associate Professor of Electrical Engineering: Studies in statistical communication theory and stochastic differential equations; and Dr. Stanley J. Stein, 12 Edgehill Street, professor of History: Merchants and monarchs in Spain and New Spain, 1759-1892.

Linda Joanne Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses S. Johnson, 144 John Street, has been accepted as a freshman at Lincoln University in Pennsylvania. Miss Johnson will graduate from Princeton High School this June in three years rather than the usual four years. She is also a National Merit Commended Student and a member of Merit's Who's Who among American High School Students for the Academic year of 1971 - 1972.

Dr. Michael A. Rockland, assistant dean and director of the American Studies Program at Douglass College, is editor of the recently published, "America in the Fifties and Sixties: Julian Marias on the United States."

Julian Marias is a noted Spanish philosopher-historian whose travels and observations about the modern U.S.A. follow in the tradition of de Tocqueville, Dickens and Martineau.

Dr. Rockland has edited the Spaniard's translated works, and also written an introductory essay to the book.

GARDEN SHOW ON VIEW

At University Art Museum. With a very classical approach to the advent of spring, Prof. David Coffin has assembled an exhibit called "Garden and Landscape" at the Princeton University Art Museum. This very thoughful show is actually a contrapuntal display of the garden and landscape in art and the garden and landscape as art.

Fine arc is displayed in a mixed media collection that includes Durer, Ruskin, Constable, Turner, Fragonard and other small treasures. Prints, paintings, wash drawings and sketches display the landscape as great artists of many nations, and many eras have viewed the botanical and natural world around them.

Contrasted against the fine art is a collection of old and rare books dealing with gardens through the ages. Classical and biblical origins are displayed.

National and historical distinctions are also illustrated in lovely old tomes where the lettering, typographic styles, printing technique and beautiful richness of old paper add further visual delight.

The display takes a scholarly approach to the distinctions between the French and English garden, explores the landscape design of the Roman Villa and discusses visually to interaction between the different national styles.

The carefully detailed and precisely drawn plates reflect an aspect of the cultures they were designed for by a display of taste and elegance in an era of richness of style that will never again be duplicated.

At The Artisan. Woven forms by Lore Lindenfeld demonstrate the flexibility and range that the artful weaver can give to her loom. Mrs. Lindenfeld has created a collection of hangings that employ both classical and radically original techniques alone and in combination. Color, texture, form and silhouette are all very carefully regarded by this artist.

One of the more unusual pieces looks like the creation of a spider that attended a very fine art school. Airy, light and delicate verticals which make use of the spaces they enclose are played against a concentric woven form that itself contrasts with other shapes.

In some of her works, the silhouette plays a major visual role and many interesting shapes are displayed. Within the shapes are other shapes: linear forms, texture and flat weaves.

The hangings fulfill all the demands of a two-dimensional art and they add the third, the weavers dimension which in this case is both visual and tactile. The richness of surface in her creations make each one an independent and very important piece of work.

At Gallery of Fine Art. Charles Keller, an American painter who has worked and loved in Italy presents his very skillful impressions of the life he observed. Oil paintings, acrylics and oil pastel combined with wash brightly and adeptly give us Mr. Keller's reflections of the culture that surround him.

His skill as an artist and sensitivity as an observer are both reflected in his studies, all figurative, which includes portrayals of daily living experiences, portraits and a series called "smotherhood," a well depicted and superbly colored series of paintings and drawings reflecting this artist's observations of the mother-child relationship around him.

Paint, color and design are all mastered with ease by this very facile artist who uses his expressive brushwork to enhance form and pattern. Painterly skill joined with a fine instinct for subject and expression make this collection a subject for careful and joyful viewing.

At The Eye for Art. Two small collections of graphics by somewhat symbolic and surrealistic artists have been added to the current display. T. Yokoi and S. R. Annya both deal in highly realistic etchings combined with acquatint which they then overlay with an air of profound mystery.

Yokoi presents simple, realistic nature and vegetable forms on a black background. These shapes form their own unusual interrelationships simply by this artist's use of spatial tensions between the forms.

Mr. Annys is more complex and possibly more profound in highly detailed, scientifically intricate prints which include the human body, mysterious oceanic relationships involving large amounts of sea-life and a complex and intricate mastery over his medium.

At The Princeton Middle School. Too late for immediate local viewing, but deserving of notice is the series of graphics based on the human body which was created by Princeton area artists to complement the health and anatomy display at the Princeton Middle School.

A skillful, mixed graphic media exploration of aspects of human anatomy as the basis for creative art is now part of a touring show which will return to Princeton on Mother's Day at the Gallery of the Fund for Peace Education, then move to Rutgers Medical School and finally to the Squibb Gallery. Artists included Judith K. Brodsky, Yvonne Burk, Trudy Glucksberg, Ann Gross, Margaret Kennard Johnson, Renee Levine, Joan Needham, Mae Rockland, Helen Schwartz and Marie Sturken.

Exhibit at Youth Center

Printmaker Walter Culbreth is exhibiting his wood block prints in a one-man show at the Princeton Youth Center. His work will be on view through Friday, May 5.

A research bacteriologist at American Cyanamid, Mr. Culbreth has executed a dramatic logo in red and black for the Sickle Cell Anemia Society of Central New Jersey. The artist will donate half the proceeds from the sale of his prints to the sickle-cell fund-raising drive.

The exhibit shows clearly Mr. Culbreth's dedication to the extension of black consciousness. Included in the show are portraits of such black leaders as Frederick Douglas, Malcolm X and Baraka, studies of black women, masks and various street scenes.

"THE KEARSARGE AT ANCHOR IN BOULOGNE HARBOR." One of the many fine paintings that will go on display at the Princeton University Art Museum May 7 in an exhibition of works owned by Princeton alumni is Manet's "The Keorsarge at Anchor in Boulogne Habor." The painting has been lent by Congressman and Mrs. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen Jr., of Morristown, Class of 1938.

The Best of Many Fine Collections Due Here for Alumni Art Show

Paintings and sculptures from some of the country's finest private collections including Rembrandt's "Portrait of a Man," will be on view to the public at the Princeton University Art Museum beginning Sunday, May 7 with the opening of the first exhibition of works of art owned by Princeton alumni.

The show—which will run through June 11—will include 112 paintings and 22 sculptures, many never shown publicly before, or not exhibited for some years. The works range from an 11th century bloodstone cameo to a 1971 Kenneth Noland painting, and encompass a selection of early Italian paintings, Renaissance works, European and American artists from the 17th, 18th and early 19th centures, and some particularly fine examples of Impressionism and post-Impressionism.

Made up of selections from private collections all over the country, the exhibition was culled by a panel of art specialists from some 3,000 works that were offered by Princeton alumni. In all, 90 persons have loaned art—the oldest, the noted collector C. Otto von Kienbusch of New York City of the Class of 1906 who has been a longtime patron of the arts and library at Princeton; the youngest two current undergraduates, senior Christopher C. Forbes of Far Hills, N.J., and junior Derek B. B. Lidow, of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Among the works on display besides the Rembrandt, which was never shown before publicly and heretofore not accessible even to scholars, will be a Rubens that has only recently entered an American collection and a Murillo self-portrait.

English, French and American paintings of the 19th century contain among others, two Turner watercolors, two Pre-Raphaelite paintings, two Manets, two Cezannes, three Monets, and several Degas, along with a Sully portrait, a large Harnett trompe-l'oeil still life (the well-known "After the Hunt"), and two Winslow Homers.

A Rare Picasso. Most of the art movements of the 20th century are covered, beginning with a rare precubist landscape by Picasso and an equally rare and early fauve Vlaminck. There are other paintings by Picasso, Matisse, Braque, Chagall, Leger, Kandinsky, Jawlensky, Klee, and Kokoschka representing 20th century European painting, as well as works by Wyeth, Gorky, Pollock, Rauschenberg, Sam Francis, and Frank Stella among the Americans.

Selections were made from such widely known collections as those of Mr. Kienbusch, John D. Rockefeller 3rd '27, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Frick II ('42), Mrs. Charles W. Engelhard and the late Mr. Engelhard, '39, Lee A. Ault, '37, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm S. Forbes ('41), Mr. and Mrs. H. O. H. Frelinghuysen ('38), Mr. and Mrs. David Hunter McAlpin ('20), Mr. and Mrs. R. Sturgis Ingersoll ('14) and Mr. and Mrs. H. Gates Lloyd ('23).

Preparations for the alumni exhibition have been underway for three years now under the direction of an executive committee, headed by Frank E. Taplin, Princeton 1937, whose interest in the arts include present service as president of the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center in New York, on the board of directors of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and on the Advisory Council of the University Art Museum.

To make the actual selections, a committee of experts —all Princeton alumni—was formed, consisting of:

Alfred H. Barr Jr. '22, former director of the Museum of Modern Art and now advisor to its board of trustees; Wen Fong '51, Chairman of Princeton's Department of Art and Archaeology; Patrick J. Kelleher '47, director of the University Art Museum; A. Hyatt Mayor '22, formerly with the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York; Millard Meiss '26, of the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton; and William M. Milliken '11, formerly director of the Cleveland Museum of Art.

Executive director of the exhibition is Mrs. Hedy Backlin Landman, previously executive assistant and curator of art at the Princeton museum, who is now living in Cambridge, Mass.

Mrs. Landman is also editing the exhibition's catalogue—to be published by the Princeton University Press—

The Princeton Museum is open Tuesday through Saturday, 10 to 4, and Sundays from 2 to 4. It is closed Monday.

The Canes share an idea that is, today, distressingly rare. They think that wood furniture should be made of wood, brass lamps of brass, and that plastic is best restricted to toothbrush handles and toys. And they've done something about their idea: assembled several hundred fine upholstered pieces, museum re-creations, hand-crafted accessories, and custom-made furnishings, and put them all under one roof at Cane Farm. TENNIS TOP ATTRACTION

Of Weekend Schedule. Spring sunshine, if there is any, will draw one of the largest crowds ever to see a tennis match here to the University Courts Saturday. The undefeated Princeton team, defending its Eastern Association championship, will play host to Columbia at 2 o'clock.

After years of finishing far down in the standings, the Lions have developed a team that is very possibly the best in their history. A fortnight ago, they blanked Harvard, 9-0, and the Crimson was runner-up last spring to the Tigers.

The victory over Harvard was Columbia's first in the sport since 1924. On Saturday, it will be looking for its first triumph over Princeton in 26 years.

Penn, too, is a strong entry among the ten teams. Saturday's match will not determine the final winner, since the Quakers face Princeton and Columbia on the road the following weekend, but it will bring forth some of the best intercollegiate tennis in many years.

TIGERS HOPE FOR 2 MORE

In Tight Baseball Race. Every team in the Eastern Baseball League has lost at least once in the early going, thereby giving Princeton a lingering hope that it can still make a run for the championship. The Tigers' problem is that they occasionally do not play close to the kind of ball needed to finish first.

At Providence last Friday, for example, they started their best pitcher, Randy Blevins, and before the game was over, they had scored 11 runs. Long before that, however, Blevins had departed the scene, having been able to retire only four men as the home team rolled out to a 7-0 lead at the end of two innings.

Eventually, Brown's hurling also fell apart and Princeton battled back with the aid of a six-run fourth. Despite home runs in the later innings by Ken Beytin and Captain Bill Binder, the Orange and Black never quite caught up. It was a 12-11 final and the third straight defeat in league play.

Saturday's rain at New Haven, postponing the doubleheader with Yale, set some kind of minor record in that for the first time in history, Princeton played a Sunday twin bill against both the Elis and Harvard. For the better part of a century in these long-traditional battles, if it rained Saturday, it was pick up the marbles and go home.

Tigers Take Two. A year ago, Tiger hopes of finishing first were shattered when Yale won twice on Clarke Field. Sunday at Yale Field, the Orange and Black won decisively, 8-1 and 7-1, Bill Coppedge (with sophomore Steve Crandall in relief) and Steve McLean were the winning pitchers.

Indian 1st — Tigers 5th

Dartmouth, which has finished first in the Ivy League more often than any other team, is the choice of the eight sports information directors to win the football championship again in 1972. Princeton, says their crystal ball, will finisn fifth — again.

Six of the eight picked the Indians to win the title outright, after having shared it last year with Cornell. Harvard is the selection as runner-up, while Columbia, named third, won the other two votes for first place.

Yale is the choice to round out first division, with Cornell (minus Ed Marinaro) seen slipping all the way to sixth. Penn is seventh and Brown last — again.

Held hitless for five innings in the opener, Princeton got all its runs in the top of the sixth, scoring eight times with the aid of just three hits. Four walks helped, the key safeties coming in the form of a two-run single by center fielder Pete Korsan and a bases-loaded double by Steve Loy, a pinch hitter.

The second game was decided early when Princeton took a 6-0 lead by the end of two. McLean gave only three hits as the Tigers moved out of the cellar. Binder drove in three of the victors' runs, collecting seven rbi's in the three weekend contests.

Coach Eddie Donovan's team is now in the busiest portion of its season, with ten contests on the schedule over an 11-day period. The Tigers were due to go to Easton Tuesday to play Lafayette (see page 38) and to New York Thursday for a game with Fordham.

Doubleheader Saturday. A strong Columbia team comes to Clarke Field Saturday for a doubleheader at 1. The Lions have good pitching, two or three solid hitters and an adequate defense, and the Tigers will be doing extremely well to win two.

Seton Hall will be here Monday and St. John's Tuesday, both games starting at 3:30. Both these opponents are District II foes, hoping for a shot at an NCAA Tournament berth, with St. John's — one of the east's best — looking for its first victory here in five years.

League standings are badly complicated by the wet spring — more so than at any time within recent memory, and particularly so in view of the 14-game schedule each team must play. Pennsylvania has had three doubleheaders postponed by rain or wet grounds and the Quakers' early commencement creates added scheduling difficulties.

Navy, Brown and Cornell all have had twin bills with Penn washed out. Harvard and Princeton still have one game unplayed, and in theory the season ends Saturday, May 13, with all weekend dates solidly booked.

CREW LOSES TO PENN

In Childs Cup Regatta. Cold rain marked the beginning (on April 8) and the end of Princeton's brief home rowing season Saturday at Penn's highly-capable crew retained the Childs Cup on Lake Carnegie for the seventh year in a row.

Overcoming a brief Princeton lead, the Quakers gradually moved out to a margin that was three-quarters of a length at the finish. They were timed in 6:21.1 for the 2,000 meters, to 6:23.8 for Princeton. Columbia was more than eight lengths back and managed to enter only a four-oared shell in the jayee race.

That went to Penn, too, as did the freshman race, the latter by a thin ten feet as the Quakers came from behind in the final 300 meters. This weekend, the Tiger oarsmen will row on the Charles River for the Compton Cup against Harvard and MIT, with the Crimson heavily favored to win as

The service system of tomorrow. Built into every new Volkswagen today.

Imagine owning a car that can tell you how it feels. When Volkswagen dealerships start to receive their computers later this year, you'll be able to drive in, have your 1972 Volkswagen plugged into the computer, and get it straight from your car what's right or wrong.

How does it work?

Every 1972 Volkswagen has a network of sensors and check points built into critical areas like the engine and electrical system.

These sensors work like nerves.

When they're attached to the computer by a simple socket in the back of the car, the sensors relay the condition of vital areas.

In the time it takes a mechanic to collect his tools, the computer checks things like front wheel alignment, engine compression, and battery voltage.

And gives you the results in plain English.

The computer will be at Volkswagen dealers starting later this year, so you can come in and let our brain take the load off yours.

it has in almost every year since the rivalry began over a quarter-century ago.

Princeton's 150-lb. crew fared much better, in the same regatta, all three of its shells defeating Cornell and Rutgers. The varsity won by better than four lengths (in 6:35.2) and remains unbeaten.

YALE WINS IN LACROSSE

Edges Tigers in Mud, 7-6. Behind Yale by as much as 5-1 during the first two periods, Princeton's lacrosse team fought back Saturday on mud-caked Finney Field to gain a 6-6 tie in the third quarter. The odd goal in the baker's dozen went to the Blue, however, giving the Elis a 7-6 triumph and dropping the Tigers' record to 4-2.

Jim Shee made three unassisted goals for the losers, with Jon Pettit of Ridgeview oRad adding a fourth. The defeat made unlikely a Princeton run for the title, since more difficult games with Brown and Cornell remain.

Penn was on the schedule Wednesday, with Brown playing host to Princeton Saturday at Providence.

TWO TO COACH HERE

McCandless Names Assistants. The appointment of Gary R. Fallon and Artie B. Williams to Princeton University's football coaching staff completes the realignment of Coach Jake McCandless' associates for the 1972 season.

Fallon will direct the offensive perimeter, replacing Arthur E. Robinson who has been a member of the Tigers' varsity staff since 1966. Robinson, also Princeton's head coach of lacrosse, will work with the freshmen next fall.

Williams becomes head coach of freshman football, succeeding Douglas S. James, who is leaving to teach and coach at Lawrenceville. Also leaving Princeton, to enter a family enterprise, is John T. Somerville who served as freshman assistant last year.

The 33-year old Fallon comes to Princeton from Ithaca College where for three seasons he has directed the offensive backfield and receivers. A 1962 graduate of Syracuse University, he was a three-sport athlete there. As a running back, Fallon played in the 1959 Cotton Bowl and 1961 Liberty Bowl Games. He was captain of the lacrosse team in 1962 and played in the annual North-South Game. His third sport was wrestling.

Played with Vikings. Following his Syracuse graduation, Fallon played professional football, briefly with the Minnesota Vikings and later with both the Hamilton Tiger Cats and Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian League as well as four seasons in the Atlantic Coast League. A veteran of the Marine Corps Reserve and a collegiate official in both football and lacrosse, Fallon obtained his Master's degree from Syracuse in 1967.

After one year as a substitute teacher in the Watertown (N.Y.) City School District, Fallon became a teacher and wrestling coach in the Syracuse City School District from 1963-65. He then moved on to become athletic director, wrestling coach and assistant football coach in the Jordan-Elbridge School District of upstate New York and remained there until his appointment at Ithaca in 1969.

Williams, a 1952 graduate of Hampton Institute where he was a defensive back in football, joins the Tiger staff from the Baltimore City School system. He began his coaching career, following two years of service in the Army, as chairman of the Department of Physical Education at Cherry Hill Junior High School in Baltimore in 1956. During this time, he also coached wrestling, track, baseball and cross country.

In 1960, Williams became assistant football coach at Frederick Douglass High School and two years later was named head coach of football. For

Hank Bjorklund Signs with N.Y. Jets

Hank Bjorklund, one of the fastest backs in Princeton football history, has signed to play professionally next fall with the New York Jets. He was their 12th round draft choice.

In his junior year, Bjorklund ranked third nationally in yards gained rushing and before he graduated had surpassed the total credited to All-American Dick Kazmaier. The latter's record had lasted for exactly 20 years.

Bjorklund hopes to become the second Princeton alumnus to stick with the pros. Still in the National Football League is Charlie Gogolak, the placekicker who has been with the Washington Redskins, the Denver Broncos and now the New England Patriots.

Other Tigers who have had tryouts but failed to earn contracts include tackle Bob Hews and defensive back Keith Mauney in recent years, fullback Cosmo Iacavazzi in the mid-60s and end Frank McPhee and fullback Homer Smith in the early 50s.

PHS VS. TRENTON

In Track Thursday. Originally scheduled for Friday, the Princeton High School-Trenton High track meet will be held Thursday afternoon in Trenton. Trenton lost to Ewing by about the same score PHS did and coach Larry Ivan expects a close contest.

On Saturday, instead of competing in the annual Penn Relays, PHS will play host to New Brunswick in a dual meet set for 1 p.m. The meet is a makeup of one rained out in early April.

"We felt it would be of more benefit to have the whole team competing rather than just a few at the Relays," commented Ivan.

On Tuesday, the Little Tigers will play host to Notre Dame, starting at 3:45. Monday's dual meet here with Franklin was rained out.

SAME STORY AT PHS

More Errors, Another Loss. Another collection of errors, this time six by the Princeton High School baseball team, made things easy for Trenton Friday as the Tornadoes defeated the Little Tigers, 8-2. PHS is winless in five starts.

Weather permitting, PHS will play Hun at home Friday at 3:45, entertain Princeton Day School Monday at 3:30 and travel to St. Anthony's on Wednesday. It was scheduled to be at Cathedral this Wednesday afternoon.

PHS scored both its runs in the sixth. Mike Carlucci doubled home the first run and the second scored on an error. The only other PHS hit, a single by George Boccanfuso in the first inning, was wasted.

Bobby Speagle, a junior, made his first start on the mound. Only two of the runs scored off him were earned before he gave way to reliefer John Mooney in the sixth. He pitched well, but as one PHS player remarked, "errors killed us."

Why? So far, the team has remained a puzzle to coach Harry Zoll and to its followers. With virtually every player back from last year's squad, which finished 5-13, Zoll had anticipated improvement this spring.

Why, with an added year's experience, the team has failed to play better is a mystery. "You never can tell what will happen in high school ball" is one of Zoll's favorite remarks. PHS is a prime example.

STICKMEN WIN FIRST

Clifton Here Saturday. Six games into its schedule, the Princeton High School lacrosse team won its first of the season Friday when Brooks Mohrmann knocked in a little dribbler in the last two minutes to defeat Pingry, 6-5. Earlier, PHS had tied George School for a 1-4-1 record.

Saturday morning at 10, PHS will entertain Clifton, a newcomer to the Little Tigers' schedule, at Community Park. Wednesday it will host Hun in a 3:45 contest.

McGuian Erupts. Limited to one goal in five games prior to the Pingry game, Princeton's Joe McGuinn, who is expected to lead the team in scoring, finally broke loose and scored four goals. John Figueroa, a sophomore just brought up to the varsity by coach Marvin Trotman, scored the Little Tigers' other goal.

And, the PHS defense continues to tighten up. "All the guys on defense played well," Trotman commented, saying: "It was probably the best they've played since the opening game." He cited the play of Tom Graves, John McCulloch and Figueroa.

Steve Stone and Mohrmann scored for PHS in a 2-2 tie with George School last Wednesday. The game was called with time still remaining in the final period because the Cougar players had to leave for supper.

A week ago, when PHS had lost a pair of games, 15-0, Trotman commented, "The way we're playing right now, I'm not enjoying it."

Then he recalled that in the previous year PHS had lost its first four but managed to straighten itself out. "Maybe we can do the same this year," he said.

It seems that the Little Tigers are on the way of doing just that.

PHS GIRLS TO COMPETE

In Penn Relays. A Princeton High School girls relay team will compete Friday in the Penn Relays.

Coach Lamont Fletcher reported that he will take a squad consisting of Lori Bowman, Karen Herzog, Karen Brooks and Gracie McEwen. Karen Winn will be an alternate. They will compete in a 440-yard relay, each girl running a 110-yard leg.

Tucker said that it was only the third year for the girl's 440 relay and only the fourth that events for girls have been held at the Penn Relays.

On Wednesday, the Little Tigers will entertain Delaware Valley in a dual meet here at 3:45. Thursday's meet with

Little League Tryouts

Princeton Little League baseball will hold tryouts for all new boys 9-12 at Grover Park Field (next to the Princeton Shopping Center) on May 7 and 13 at 9 a.m. Each boy should bring his own glove, if possible.

Every boy who tries out will be assigned to one of the eight teams. An expanded schedule will insure more game time for every player.

Regular league play will begin June 6 and continue through July 25. To be eligible, boys must have been born before Aug. 1, 1963 and after July 31, 1959. Additional information is available from Bernard Miller, 924-2585.

Pennsbury, which was rained out, has been tentatively rescheduled for May 25.

HUN, SOMERVILLE FALL

To PHS Tennis Team. In full stride now, Princeton High School's undefeated tennis team last week polished off Somerville Friday and Hun earlier — both by 5-0 scores. Coach Bill Humes' team is 5-0.

The Little Tigers will entertain New Brunswick Thursday afternoon and then travel to the shore for a match with Christian Brothers on Monday. Monday's rained out match with Peddie has been rescheduled for May 8.

Against Somerville, with Michel Glouchevitch, the number one singles player absent, Danny Thompson moved up to that slot. Bill Schmidt and Bob Aldridge, number two and three players, both won easily.

In doubles play, Richard Broad and Randy Thomas and Robby McDougald and Nicki Glouchevitch won for PHS.

Against Hun, in the number two singles, Schmidt avenged a three-set loss to Hun's Richard Sword last year when he defeated Sword Wednesday in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1.

Glouchevitch triumphed over Hun's top player, Chris Lilly, 7-5, 6-1.

Broad and Thomas captured the number one doubles again and for the second doubles, McDougald paired with Bob Aldridge.

PDS NINE PREPARES

For Germantown Contests. Two games on consecutive Friday afternoons against Germantown Academy will in all probability decide whether the Princeton Day baseball team can repeat as winner in the Day School Division of the Penn-Jersey League.

The first contest will be played at Germantown, the return engagement is set for 3 p.m., Friday, May 5. In between, the Panthers will also face Princeton High on Monday away at 3:30 and George School, Wednesday, May 3, at 3 at home. Another Penn-Jersey game, against Hun was scheduled for this Wednesday at PDS.

The Blue and White split a pair of Penn-Jersey games last week, walloping Perkiomen, 12-3, after a 6-3 loss to a good Pennington team.

Mark Ellsworth had a no-hitter going until the final inning against Perkiomen, but gave up two hits before getting the last three outs. He had lost his shutout a few innings earlier without giving up a hit. Overall, he fanned 10 and walked four.

PDS scored heavily in the first four innings, putting the game away early. Ellsworth had three RBIs, Carl Rosenberg, Tad van Dusen and Kirk Moore also drove in runs. Moore hit his third triple in three games. Four Perkiomen errors led to several other unearned PDS tallies.

Earlier in the week, it was the Panthers' turn to give runs away as two throwing errors in the third inning led to three Pennington runs. John Boyd pitched a good steady game for PDS, permitting Pennington six hits.

Unfortunately, the most PDS could muster was a single safety off the bat of Duncan Martin, and that didn't figure in the PDS scoring.

PDS WINS FIRST

In Lacrosse. Andy Houston returned to the goal Wednesday and sparked the Princeton Day School lacrosse team to its best performance and first win of the season, a 4-1 victory over the Peddie B team.

Houston, out with mononucleosis for the first two games of the year, turned in another great game Friday, but it was against a barrage of 45 shots from Hunterdon Central High School. Hunterdon came on strong in the second half to win 6-1.

With only two days' practice under his belt, Houston turned aside 20 shots in the Peddie game, as the Panthers controlled the game throughout. John Moore and Dirk Gleysteen each scored a pair, notching one in each period for the win.

Hunterdon led the Blue and White stickers 1-0 at the half on Friday, then opened up a 5-0 lead at the end of the third period with a fundamental pass-cut-run game. PDS pulled itself together in the final period, and John Moore scored the only PDS goal of the day on a bounce shot from 30 feet.

A report on Monday's game with the High School appears on Page 38.

PDS STILL UNBEATEN

In Tennis. Princeton Day School's undefeated tennis team blanked Solebury School 5-0 last Monday, shifted lineups Tuesday, and took two more Penn-Jersey League shut-outs before the week was out. The team, now with a 4-0 mark, has dropped one individual match all season.

Germantown will provide the opposition in the Panthers' next match set for Thursday at Germantown. PDS will play Hun at Hun at 2:15 Friday and George School at home p.m., Wednesday, May 3.

With the Bash brothers — Steve, Evan and Greg — playing first, second and third singles, the Blue and White netters had no trouble breezing by Solebury.

Tuesday's team challenge matches put Jerem Gordon and Buzz Woodworth in the second and third singles slots, and they turned in solid wins as PDS took 5-0 wins from Pennington on Wednesday and Perkiomen School on Friday.

Evan and Greg Bash took Gordon's and Woodworth's first doubles position, and won in the latter matches.

David Straut won the second doubles with Cole Harrop against Solebury and Pennington, and with Chris Miller against Perkiomen.

HUN WINS PAIR

As Rain Raises Hob. "I can't believe this weather; it's fouling everything up."

Hun coach Bill McQuade has been casting wary glances at the sky recently as the weather has repeatedly kayoed the Hun diamond which suffers from poor drainage in the infield. Three games have been washed out to date, as has one attempt to replay one of them.

Hun won a pair last week. It defeated Germantown Friends, 5-2, behind the two-hit pitching of Chuck Sista, and won by forfeit over the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf when the latter's bus broke down and the team did not arrive in time.

Presently 3-1 in league play, Hun will next play Princeton High School on Friday at the PHS diamond, play host to Lawrenceville School on Saturday at 2:30 and entertain Academy of New Church Monday at 3:15.

Skrajewski Homers. Dennis Skrajewski, batting .444 for Hun, knocked in two runs in the Germantown game when he homered with Pete Jones on base. "It was a real shot," said McQuade who described it as a major-league home run.

Hun only collected two more hits, both by shortstop Pete Jones. One, a double, drove home Dave Pone who had

PAHR HAS OPTION

To Buy Slim Trim Programs. Princeton Associates for Human Resources, Inc., 575 Ewing Street, has bought for $100,000, an option to acquire, prior to September 16, 1972, for an additional $1.2 million, all of the outstanding stock of Slim Trim Programs, Inc., and of "Camp Stanley" and "Camp Tahoe," summer camps for overweight boys and girls from 8 to 18 years of age.

The Company further announced that it had filed a Registration Statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission covering an offering of $600,000 of its 8% Convertible Preferred Stock, the proceeds of which will be used to pay part of the acquisition cost of the Camps, assuming the Company exercises its option.

Among the operations of Slim Trim Programs, Inc., covered by the Company's option, "Camp Stanley" and "Camp Tahoe," with a capacity of 400 girls and 250 boys, respectively, own and occupy a total of 500 acres of property in Monticello and Hurleyville, New York. The Camps have operated at near full capacity for the past 9 and 5 years, respectively.

The Company plans to use Slim Trim Programs, Inc., as the basis for substantially enlarging its position in the physical health sector of the human resources field by adding children's camps at other locations as well as the institution of an adult weight reduction program.

RECORD SALES LISTED

At Systemidcs. Systemedics, Inc., of Princeton Air Research Park, a firm specializing in management and information services for physicians, has announced record sales and profits for the first quarter of 1972.

Speaking at the annual stockholders' meeting last week, Systemedics' President William Krause reported that, "Consolidated revenues for the first quarter of 1972 were $806,224 compared to an adjusted same period last year." Mr. Krause reported that the company's net profits had advanced from an adjusted $12,125 loss in the first quarter of 1971 to 31,377 profit in the first quarter of 1972 Per share earnings so far this year are 3 cents.

Reviewing the firm's growth in 1971, Krause told the stockholders that the purchase of A.M.S., Inc., a Jackson, Mississippi medical systems firm with 135 franchise salesmen, has given Systemedics national representation and computer processing facilities in key market areas throughout the country. He further announced that research and development operations for future business were charged as a cost of 1971 operations rather than capitalized as in 1970.

"Partly as a result of this more conservative approach," he said, "the operating statement for 1971 indicates a loss of approximately $25,000 or $.04 per share."

Systemedics' stockholders reelected the current board of directors: William P. Krause, Richard I. Bergman, Richard D. Krause, George L. Pellettieri, Jr. and David Faust. They also authorized an increase in the shares reserved under the company's qualified stock option plan to 70,000 shares.

ACQUISITION PLANNED

By Penn Corp. Penn Corporation, One Palmer Square, a manufacturer and marketer of diversified proprietary consumer products, will acquire for cash and stock totalling $5.5 million the business and assets of Vitronic, Inc., and Plastic Projects, Inc., of St. Louis.

The acquisition was announced by Penn Corporation President, Martin A. Chooljian, Vitronic President, Charles B. Wright, and Plastic Projects President, Lester K. Wright.

Vitronic and Plastic Projects manufacture and market various lines of decorative and functional home and personal accessories. The companies' premium-quality lines of fine man-made leather reproductions include wallets, credit card carriers, key cases, anti-litter bags, briefcases, totebags, desk sets, first aid kits, bridge and game sets, candles, and other items for men and women in many designs, colors, prints, grains, and finishes.

Most of the companies' products are sold through advertising specialty distributors to businesses and professional people around the world, who give them to customers, friends and clients. According to Mr. Chooljian, "These acquisitions will complement and further diversify our lines of proprietary consumer products."

Vitronic and Plastic Projects have administrative offices in St. Louis, Missouri, and manufacturing plants in Doniphan, Missouri, and Los Angeles, California. The combined unaudited sales and earnings of the acquired companies were approximately $4,400,000 and $400,000, respectively, for the twelve months ending December 31, 1971. Operations of the acquired companies will continue under present managements.

walked for another Hun run. Jones is batting over .400.

Sista was working on a no-hitter until the final inning. He failed to get it, however, when the Quakers reached him for two singles and two walks to score both their runs.

TIGERS LOSE ANOTRER

To Lafayette in 9th. A two-run lead in the first and a 3-0 advantage after six failed to hold together for Princeton's baseball team Tuesday at Easton, Pa. Lafayette waited until the home half of the seventh to begin its scoring, but won the contest with a three-run outburst before a batter was retired in the last of the ninth. It was a 6-5 final. Raody Blevins, Steve Crandall, George Cummings and Jim Pestronk all worked for the Tigers, Pestronk taking the loss. Captain Bill Binder continued his heavy hitting for Princeton with a 3-for-5 performance.

FRANKLIN STOPS PHS

In Track, 87½-43½. Uutil Tuesday when it met Princeton High School, the Franklin track team had managed to complete only one dual meet—the rest were rained out.

The Little Tigers should have prayed for more rain as the visiting Franklin squad led from the start to win easily, 87½ to 43½. For PHS it was an afternoon highlighted by a few individual performances.

Foremost was freshman Mark McLean winning the pole vault at 9-6, his best performance. Teammate Bill Alpert was second. Mike Coda captured the half-mile in 2:10, tying his best effort. Mark Buroff tied for first place honors in the hight jump with a leap of 5-6, while Lionel Hammond won the 180-yard high hurdles and placed second in the 220.

SICKELS TOO MUCH

For PHS Nine. Ewing's Fritz Sickels, who tossed a no hitter against Princeton High School in the latter's opener this season, faced the Little Tigers here again on Tuesday, and while he wasn't as effective, he won his fifth straight victry without a loss, 5-2. He fanned 12 and gave up six hits.

Watching Sickels work were a couple of scouts, who introduced themselves to PHS coach Harry Zoll prior to the game. "I know they weren't here to scout us," quipped Zoll, but PHS, considering its 0-6 record, gave a good account of itself.

After the game Zoll conducted a brief class in baseball mathematice (he is a math teacher at PHS). "They scored five runs, but only the first one was earned," he told his players assembled on the bench. "Four were gifts. The way I figure it the score should have been : us 2, them 1."

Ewing (6-1) reached starter Lance Marshall for one run in the first on a single by Wayne Krenchicki, a stolen base and a blooper over short by outfielder Dick Marchetti.

In the third, Krenchicki singled again and Ron Henley doubled him to third. Marshall retired the next two batters, however, and appeared to be out of it when Sickels hit a bouncer to John Moran at third. But Moran let the ball go through his legs and both runners scored.

Sickels, meanwhile, was pitching air-tight ball for the first three innings, fanning seven. Greg Kline, PHS centerfielder, got Princeton's first hit off Sickels in 11 innings in the fourth.

Ewing added two more in the fourth on a Henley single, Krenchicki's triple — his third straight hit — and two errors.

Bobby Zinsmeister opened Princeton's fifth with a nifty bunt down third. Dudley Woodbridge followed with a swinging bunt, Zinsmeister racing all the way to third. He later scored Princeton's first run when Woodbridge was out attempting to steal. Moran's hit to deep short was the home team's third hit in the inning but Mike Carlucci fanned to end it.

Ray Richard's booming double to center drove home Kline, who had walked in the sixth, for the Little Tigers' second run.

TOURNAMENT UNDER WAY

At Springdale. Thirty-two members of Springdale Golf Club, playing most of the time in a cold rain, qualified Saturday for the President's Cup, which is being defended by Kester Pierson. Sixteen of them were eliminated Sunday in 18-hole match play, and additional rounds will he played this weekend. Full handicaps are used.

In first-round matches, Dean Chace defeated Thomas Jamieson, 5 and 4; Richard Judge defeated Norman Schuele, 2 up; Robert Clancy defeated Peter Budd, 3 and 1; Pierson defeated Lyle Fitch, 4 and 3; Jack Petrone defeated John Hoff, 1 up in 19 holes; Jack Sweeney defeated Robert McCarthy, 3 and 2; Robert Shillaber defeated Ralph Allaire, 4 and 2; Edward Johnson defeated James Schwartz, 4 and 2.

Also, John Miller defeated Alan Poole, 6 and 4; Donald Shaw defeated Richard Thompson, 4 and 3; Robert Goethals defeated Harold Moran, 2 and 1; Norman Schuele, Jr., defeated Richard Gallagher, 5 and 3; Oliver Houghton defeated Ralph Mather, 1 up in 21 holes; Jack Mudge defeated Charles Bardwell, 1 up; William Millman defeated Charles Coppinger and Paul Erler defeated Douglas Walmsley, 4 and 2.

Member-Member Play Held. In the opening tournament of the season, a net of 133 won for the foursome of Jack Houghton, Maurice Coffee, Ralph Allaire and Bob McCarthy. Tied for the runner-up spot with 139 were a foursome of Max Hoffman, Joseph Masick, Thomas James and Richard Judge, and another of Michael Shillaber, Donald Shaw, Daniel Brady and Peter Budd. Medal scores were based on the two best balls of each foursome, using full handicaps.

The women's Member-Member wos won by Mrs. James Thornton, Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. Oliver Houghton and Mrs. Charles Bardwell with a net 66. Runners-up were Mrs. Edwin Rogers, Mrs. Elon Foster, Mrs. Glen Miller and Mrs. John Stone. PBA FIVE ADVANCES

To State Semi-Finals. In defeating the Hamilton PBA last week, 75-49, the Princeton Patrolmen's Benevolent Association basketball team has advanced to the semi-final round of the state PBA Tournament.

Four hit double figures for the victors. Joe Mazotas and Barry Hibbs of West Windsor scored 14 and 13 points, while Robert Mucciarelli of the Borough and Robert Nielsen of the Township added 12 and 10 points.

Others: Tom Michaud 9, Dave Cromwell 6, Kerry Klink 5, Jerry Offredo 4 and Cliff Maurer, 2. The Princeton PBA is comprised of patrolmen from the Borough, Township and West Windsor Township.

Allen Offredo, a cousin of Jerry Offredo of Princeton Township, led the losers with 21 points.

Princeton was scheduled to play the winner of the Summit-Irving game in the semi-final round.

METCALF IS VICTOR

In Interfleet Series. By the margin of a single point, Ed Metcalf captured the Carnegie Sailing Club's Interfleet series conducted the past two weeks on Lake Carnegie.

Bob Holzman, the 1970 and '71 winner, was runner up. He failed in his bid for a third championship when he placed third in the final race. He had won the first four races to cut deeply into Metcalf's early lead.

Baseball Benefit Movie

Members of all 14 teams of the YMCA Midget Baseball league will canvass Borough and Township Saturday morning from 9 to 12, selling tickets to a baseball benefit movie.

The film, a family-type comedy starring Lucille Ball and Henry Fonda, will be shown Saturday, May 13, at noon at the Princeton Playhouse.

John Hopfield, Brewster Young and Tom Huntington all had excellent averages during the series.

In the Sloop class, Paul Porter has a slim lead over Hector Poventud, while the Penguins have yet to sail this season on the lake. Penguin fleet captain Dick Jesser urges owners to turn out Sunday as each fleet must sail at least four weekends to qualify for club trophies.

After five weeks of racing, the season's standings for Sunfish skippers sailing in 10 races or more are:

Skipper	Raees	Avg.
Bob Holzman	25	2.72
Ed Metcalf	25	2.98
John Hopfield	17	3.00
Jack Kunz	20	3.99
Walt Gibson	15	4.05
Tom Huntington	22	4.89
Brewster Young	11	5.00
Dan Mazzerella	12	5.92
Bart Hoebel	12	5.93
Frank Henry	10	6.30
Dick Hill	13	7.08
Hera Kwiatoski	13	8.38

TENNIS TO BEGIN

In W. Windsor Monday. The West Windsor Evening Tennis League will begin play Monday, with starting times of 5:45 and 6:45 p.m.

All residents of the municipality are eligible to join in the doubles play regardless of experience. Each player is assigned a partner, and teams are then scheduled to play one a week. Entries may be made through Bernt Midland (799-1642.)

HOUSE TOUR SATURDAY

For Mt. Holyoke. Homes and offices designed by and for Princeton architects will be open this Saturday during a house tour to benefit Mt. Holyoke College.

Among the homes open for visiting is the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Hillier, 87 Ridgeview Circle. The Hillier home, designed by Mr. Hillier, has received the First Honor Award in the 1972 Homes for Better Living Award Program sponsored by House and Home Magazine, American Home Magazine and the American Institute of Architects.

The residence, a totally steel house with mirror glass walls, received a New Jersey Society Architects' design award last fall.

Other homes on view will be those of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Rogers, 42 Elm Road (architect Henry Jandl); Mr. and Mrs. John Sienkiewicz, 55 Winfield (William M. Thompson); Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Greenberg, 99 Ridgeview Circle (Mr. Hillier); Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Stabler, 944 Stuart Road (Philetus H. Holt III); Helmuth Cords, 12 East Shore Drive, Hopewell (Jeremiah Ford III) and the office of Gunwyn Ventures, 12 Nassau (Michael Graves).

Tickets for the tour may be obtained from Mrs. Charles G. Clark, 50 Valley Road.

TWO WOMEN NAMED

As Delegates for McGovern. Two Princeton Borough women, Mrs. Ann Martindell and Miss Abby Rubenfeld, were among the eight Mercer County residents elected to run on the George McGovern delegate slate in the June 6 New Jersey Primary.

They were elected at the Mercer County Democratic Convention held Saturday in Hamilton Township. Mrs. Martindell, vice-chairman of the New Jersey Democratic Committee, was elected to one of the five regular delegate positions on the first ballot at the McGovern caucus of the convention.

Miss Rubenfeld was elected as first alternate delegate. She is president of the Class of 1975 at Princeton University, and is coordinator of the Princeton Women's Political Caucus.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED

To View New Fire Truck. An open house will be held from 2 to 5 this Sunday at the Hook and Ladder Fire House, North Harrison Street, to mark the official "housing" of the company's new aerial truck and Engine Company No. One's new pumper.

There will be short demonstrations of each apparatus, and refreshments for the children. Rain date is May 7.

POT LUCK SUPER SET

By Rosedale Chapel. There will be a pot luck supper at 6:30 Friday for members and friends of Rosedale Chapel at the home of the Rev. Evelyn Thompson, 29 Dempsey Avenue.

Participants are asked to call Mrs. James Snedeker, 924-6786, to learn what supper item to bring.

The last formal service in Rosedale Chapel was held on Easter Sunday. Since then, members of the congregation have been meeting in each others' homes, the Rev. Mrs. Thompson said Tuesday.

The committee appointed by the New Brunswick Presbytery to study the future of the 73-year-old chapel on Carter Road is expected to report its findings to the Presbytery the second Tuesday in May. The Presbytery decision will be announced around the end of June.

FOR HARD-DRUG USERS

Center Planned, Committee Named. Still another drug committee has been formed in Princeton, and a program for hard-drug users involving a special center, is under discussion with state and federal officials.

The proposed hard-drug center would build upon and expand the work of the old Special Project, originally formed under the aegis of Child Guidance to offer professional treatment to problem drug cases. The Special Project died last year after municipal funds were cut off.

Treatment. C. George Fitzgerald, chairman of the Intergovernmental Drug Committee, said this week that the Committee needs $75,000 for such a program. Money is being sought from state, federal and foundation sources. The center might be established in a house to be lent by the Princeton Medical Center.

The new center would offer a variety of services to heavy drug users: treatment, referrals, co-ordination of community resources, and evaluation of proposed new programs.

At present, youths who are heavy drug users are being referred to whatever treatment centers are available, sometimes as far away as Newark the Rev. Mr. Fitzgerald said.

The newly formed committee will handle administration of IAP, the Institute for Applied Psychotherapy, whose headquarters are at 291 Witherspoon Street, the location formerly occupied by the Special Project.

The IAP administrative group will consist of Mrs. Alice Male, chairman; Henry S. Patterson, vice-chairman; Mrs. Carole Atkin, secretary; Philip Carchman, Dr. Patricia Wertheimer and Mrs. Ellen Peterson. Mrs. Peterson, a member of the Intergovernmental Committee, will be liaison between the two groups.

A professional, voluntary advisory group to IAP has also been named. Its members are Hil Anderson, Princeton High School psychologist; Mrs. Maxine Farmer, school social worker; Dr. Lew Gantwerk, psychologist for the Princeton Regional Schools; Dr. Marvin Geller, director of counselling for Princeton University.

Also Miss Mildred Kaplan, co-ordinator of school health services for the Princeton Regional Schools; Mrs. Bell Parmet, marriage and family counsellor; Dr. Morris Parmet, psychiatrist in problems of children and adolescents; Dr. Larry Silver, associate professor of psychiatry at Rutgers Medical School and Dr. Shirley Van Ferney, psychiatrist specializing in children and adolescents.

Each week, one member of the profession advisory group meets as a consultant with the IAP staff. The professionals are also available for emergency consultation.

In New York City last week, the municipal Addiction Services Agency, cancelled its contract with the New York branch of IAP. The cancellation was one of several announced by the Agency.

The Agency's commissioner said his office had "some questions with regard to the nature of the program, which seems nothing more than a gathering point, a kind of foster family for young people."

The Rev. Mr. Fitzgerald commenting on the New York action, said he believed the Princeton IAP program to be much stronger than the one in New York, chiefly because of the calibre of IAP's Princeton staff.

AWARDS PROGRAM SET

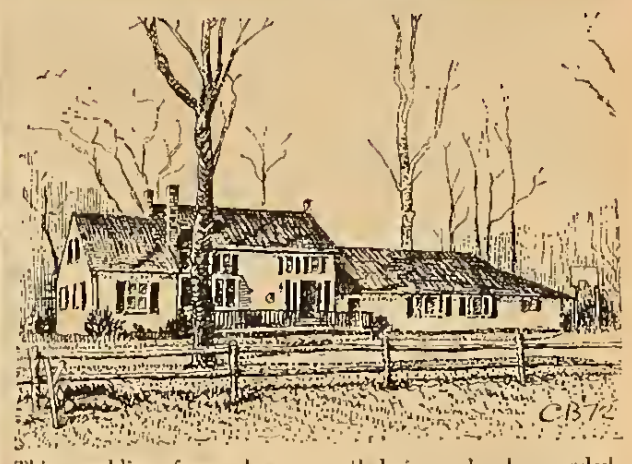
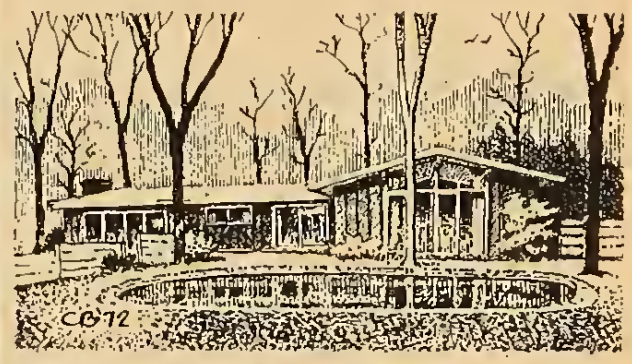
20 Years Experience



This rambling frame house, nestled in a lovely wooded setting, conveys a feeling of its personality on first sight. The rustic atmosphere moves inside with paneling in many rooms, including the large living room with brick fireplace wall. Besides the big master bedroom (with bath), there are four more rooms (one with fireplace), a pantry-bar and a second bath on the first floor. The rooms are of varying size (one is about 25x47 for instance!) The upstairs is quite regular—four nice bedrooms, plus tiled bath. The two acres, including box stall, potential playhouse and pretty fenced pool with brick terrace, are an all-age playground. $89,500



AUTUMN HILL ROAD

Nature and architecture are blended so beautifully in this striking contemporary that it is almost hard to tell where the outside ends and the inside begins. A rock garden in the entry hall gives a hint of things to come! Glass, greenery, and gravel, white walls and dark woods, decorative tile and creative built-ins highlight the house. Tall trees, lush pines and spruces, assorted evergreen plantings, rugged rocks and an artistically planned swimming pool will soon be enhanced by Spring blooms and blossoms. Living room with unusual fireplace, dining section, totally equipped kitchen, master wing with three rooms, 2 baths, separate child/work wing with 2 rooms and bath-laundry—all range from attractive through handsome to striking! This rare combination of artistry and efficiency is offered, appropriately, attractively and fully furnished for $130,000.

SACRIFICE — A SPACIOUS, CUSTOM MADE HOUSE IN A DISTINGUISHED LAWRENCEVILLE LOCATION

The beautiful Twin Ponds area of Lawrenceville, this handsome 2-story Colonial rambles on so that it looks like a ranch. It has rooms for all your family, and room for their every activity. On the first floor: Center hall leading into a large living room with fireplace, two bedrooms, large dining room, country size kitchen, 2 bathrooms, laundry room, panelled den with a brick floor-to-ceiling fireplace. Backing the fireplace outside is a double grill barbecue built into the brick faced porch which leads from the den. On the second floor is a huge master bedroom with a large walk-in dressing room, a dance hall sized bathroom, another large bedroom, and a big room which can serve as a fifth bedroom or large study, and a walk in attic on top of an oversized two car garage, ovrelooking a 60' driveway. Below all this is a full sized basement with gas fired hot water heat. All of this sits on almost one acre of lawn with mature trees. The entire front of the house is faced with beautiful silver fieldstone. Sewers are in, and the well water is plentiful and delicious. This custom built beauty must be seen to appreciate the absolute high quality of construction and workmanship—it's unparalleled anywhere in the area. With excellent schools, transportation and great neighbors around you, this fine residence is a sacrifice in the high 50's. Sincere buyers can obtain an appointment by calling 896-0462. Sale is by owner, with occupancy available in June. No brokers, please.

HERE'S ANOTHER CHARMER

THIS ONE RIGHT IN TOWN

This quaint Victorian with six bedrooms and 4½ baths, in the western section, will appeal to those who like the charm of yesteryear. Though the living room and library are small, they have the elegance of high ceilings, beautiful woodwork and pretty fireplaces. The setting is a formal courtyard with flowering trees and outdoor living is enhanced by a new swimming pool. $110,000

But at Country Antiques can you find

Cherry card table—Country Sheraton, nicely turned slender legs; an early piece with considerable charm. A perfect circle if opened—half moon fits against the wall, it becomes lunar and drawer is concealed by extra leg.

Pale green and blue jardinieres, late Celadon; good for a terrace or patio.

A chandelier, black wrought iron, a circle with 6 candle holders hung by an old chain. Not "William and Mary" but possibly middle of 19th Century.

Mauve taffeta dress, most difficult to describe accurately, but about 1850 and probably should be in a museum; strangely, in rather good condition.

The best collection of children's early chairs for many a mile. All period and in Wallace Nutting with the exception of an arrowback high chair which could well be. Not "little old school chairs or Sunday School chairs."

Honey Lake gives this Thompson designed Colonial a beautiful outlook as well as the fun of sailing, swimming and ice skating from one's own dock. The step-down living room, library (bath with fireplace) and dining room open to a flagstone terrace shaded by mature trees. The modern kitchen adjoins the family room with its own bar. A dramatic winding stairway leads to five bedrooms and three baths plus a veranda with a lake view. Many special features add to the charm and convenience of this exceptional house in perfect condition. $129,000

ELIZABETH JAMES SAYS:
IF YOU WANT TO GET AWAY from it all see us. We have a number of listings ranging from modern homes to historic Colonial farms. Among the best of these is an historic stone farmhouse nicely centered on 20 acres of scenic farm and woodland. There is a LR w/fpl., DR, parlor w/fpl, kitchen on 1st floor. 4 corner BRs and a bath on 2nd floor. Full attic and basement. All modern conveniences. Among the other buildings are a stone barn, a carriage house and smokehouse. Offered to sell at $78,000.

ELIZABETH JAMES COUNTRY REAL ESTATE
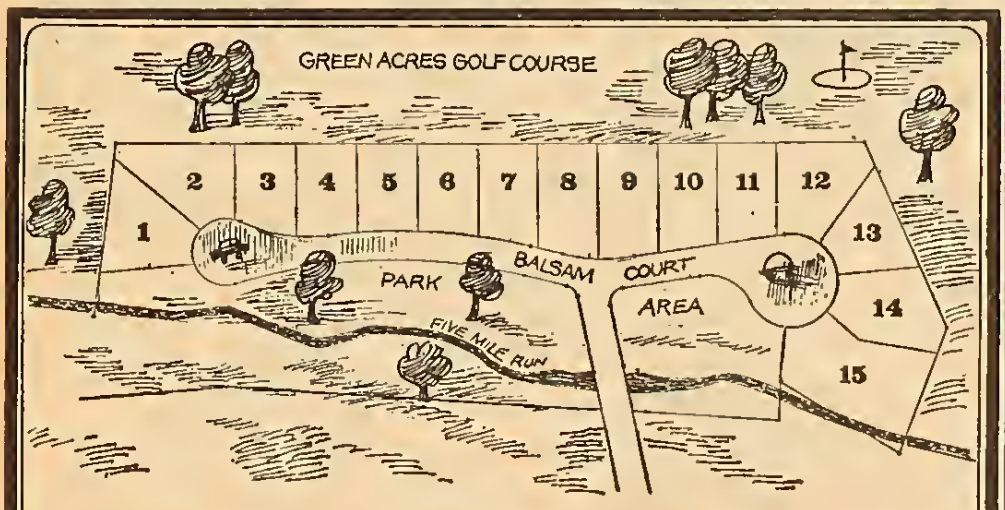
Located on Rte. 202 between New Hope and Doylestown at Lahaska, Pa. Phone (215) 794-7403.



Surround yourself with trees, grass and history.

There's plenty of all three on what may be the highest spot between New York and Philadelphia. Certainly it's one of the most historic, if not the most beautiful. ■ Just 15 homes will be custom built from your plans or ours abutting Greenacres Country Club Golf Course. Each will share in a sweep of common land . . . and in views and privacy all but vanished these days. ■ Isn't all this worth $50,000 or more?

HAVE YOU LOTS OF KISSIN' COUSINS?

If so this large centrally located townhouse is FOR YOU. Living rooms, porches, dens, studies, dining room large enough for the largest family and numerous "drop ins," 9 bedrooms, 3 baths, 2 half baths. Slate roof. Charming rear garden just made for unwinding. $80,000

IF YOU ARE CLEVER WITH YOUR HANDS you can beat this housing market. West Windsor 2 bedroom house on an acre needs work but the price of $22,900 is hard to find. A really nice living room with fireplace, dining room, a not too bad kitchen, detached 2 car garage.

PRICED LESS than other houses in the area you are sure to like the lines of this soft yellow Colonial house. You enter the bright light living room with fireplace from an attractive center hall. Nice formal dining room and attractive big family room. The kitchen is unique in its large eating space and delightful country view from the window over the sink. 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, 2 acres. $72,000

A DIVINE PLACE to spend a summer afternoon on this large secluded porch with its cool old brick floor. Spacious living room with fireplace, dining room large enough for gracious entertaining, library with fireplace, den. Adjacent to the kitchen is a breakfast room with old brick floor. 5 bedrooms, 2½ baths. $61,900

FIND OUT HOW IT REALLY WAS

Flip the pages of time and go back to the turn of the Century. Linger over the hand-carved woodwork around the many fireplaces, notice the high ceilings with molded patterns and cherish the mahogany panelling. Gracious entrance hall, with powder room, opens to elegant music room and adjoining living room. Large modernized kitchen has convenient laundry facilities. Many, many bedrooms, 2 baths plus attic space takes care of people and "things." A very special house for the very special people. $55,000

A GUIDE TO THE GOOD LIFE

In excellent condition — all the work's been done for you — in a marvelously convenient West Windsor location — on a magnificently treed and planted lot — what else can you ask for? Lovely bright living room with fireplace with a charming attached sun porch, formal dining room, modern and efficient kitchen with handy powder room. Second floor has four bedrooms, a full bath and a small room ideal for a sewing room or nursery. You'll enjoy the screened-in porch shaded by the large trees and the privacy offered by the high hedges. $55,000

LAND — LOTS OF LAND

— 11 acres close to Hopewell Borough with many trees. $24,000

— 15 acres of wooded land traversed by a stream in East Amwell $30,000

— Beautiful 4 acre lot on a private pond in Princeton's Western Section. $50,000

— Over one-half acre on Springdale Road, just across from the golf course. Hugh trees and rhododendrons. $47,000

Can you use a 2 bedroom house? We have a nice brick and masonry ranch, walking distance to the Princeton Jct. station. Living room with fireplace, dining room, large kitchen, 2 good sized bedrooms and bath. Full basement and detached 1 car garage. Mature landscaping. In very good condition. $35,000

Very nice older Colonial in Allentown, N.J. Living room, dining room, eat-in kitchen, sun porch and ½ bath on the first floor. 3 bedrooms and bath on the second. Full basement, detached 2 car garage. Nicely landscaped with some large shade trees. Very good condition. All utilities. 2 acre lot although somewhat narrow at the street. $37,500

One like this does not come on the market too often. Ranch, frame construction — old brick front. Entry, 15'x25' living room with fireplace, dining room, kitchen and 20'x20' bedroom. A rear screened 20'x26' porch overlooks the patio and small canal off Bear Brook which goes through the rear yard. The back property line is on Bear Brook. Presently used as home and mower repair shop. Ideal for an artist, architect or professional man for home and office. Grovers Mill area of West Windsor Twp. $43,500

Would you like to have a place for your horse, or if you don't have one, are you contemplating having a horse? How about your own green house, or stocked pond for fishing and swimming● Maybe you would just like to have 6 plus acres and a home. All of this within 5 minutes of the Station in Princeton Junction and 8 minutes to Princeton. Priced at $46,000, $55,000 and $70,000, each with 6 plus acres and home with various outbuildings● These are contiguous parcels, maybe you would like to buy the "whole thing."

Millstone Twp. on 3 acres in nice rural area. Entry, living room, dining room, eat-in kitchen, family room and ½ bath on first floor; 4 bedrooms and 2 baths on the second. Fireplace open from living room through to family room. Full basement. Very nice condition. $67,000

Apartment house in Allentown, N.J. Three 2 bedroom apartments and in nice condition. Zoned business and on Main Street so potential for store and/or offices is possibility. New Exit 7A of Turnpike and I-195 interchange within 1 mile of Allentown will open up this area tremendously. $47,500

4.4 acres in the Penns Neck area. Zoned Village residential. 225 ft. on Washington Road. Has been subdivided into 9 lots. $110,000

Farm house and buildings. 3 bedrooms, living room, eat in kitchen, extra room, 1½ baths and utility room. In ground pool. Will subdivide with 250' road frontage to include 5 acres if you would like to have a horse or two. You can have the above for $45,000 or the whole 52 acres for $2800 per acre.

Draine REALTORS

April 27, 1972

A walk on the lakeside. This marvellous contemporary is situated in the most splendid setting in all of Hopewell Township: over five wooded acres overlooking and including Honeybrook Lake. From it's slate entry foyer to it's forty foot terrace with fireplace overlooking the lake, it flows freely as a fine contemporary should. The spacious and light living room, dining room, and eat-in kitchen are all oriented to the lake, while the master bedroom with dressing area and the children's sleeping quarters are distinctly separate. The lower level family room and guest rooms are splendid for weekend entertaining. Dogwoods, rhododendrons, oaks and the complete pleasure of a walk on the lakeside.
$160,000

Brookside Princeton Township colonial on brookside lot. Spacious living room and dining room with beautiful carpeting, family room with fireplace, bath, and eat-in kitchen with convenient laundry room. Dressing area in Master bedroom, and three other double bedrooms. Huge panelled game room in the basement.
$74,900

This West Windsor Colonial in a special setting near Grover's Mill Pond puts it all together. It's spacious yet it's cozy. It's light and modern yet it's rustic. Formal living room and dining room with built-in china cabinets, kitchen with all modern conveniences, family room with rustic fireplace, and powder room on the first floor. Upstairs is a huge master (with dressing area) and three other twin size bedrooms. Downstairs is a full basement of brick molded poured concrete walls. Two car garage, central air and the best commute in New Jersey. In a neighborhood of unusual attractive homes. $58,000

This pretty Princeton house offers a wonderful location for the well-planned family. Let the children walk to Littlebrook School while you take a nature tour along Snowden Lane. Large living room, dining room, and kitchen down, with three comfortable bedrooms and two full baths. Full basement, two-car garage, and central air. $55,500

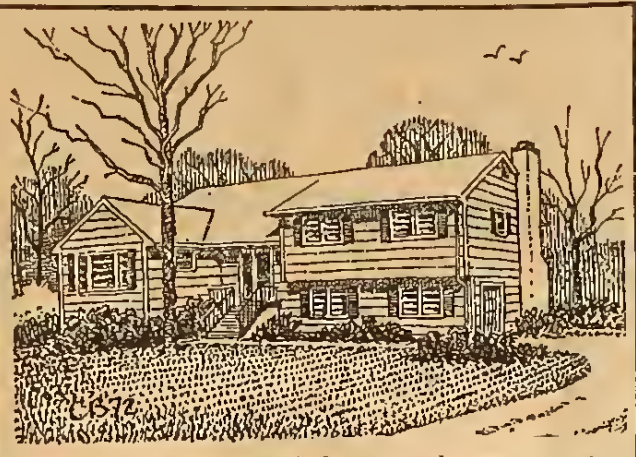
SUMMER RENTAL: June 6th to September 1, three or four bedroom house, 2 bathrooms, fenced yard, convenient to University, $300 per month. 924-4028. 4-20-tf



Princeton Township, four bedrooms, under sixty, a nice road near (to schools, Shopping Center, even the N. Y. bus) and yet so far in feeling from them all. That's the interesting combination we are happy to offer in this brand new listing. Add to that a pretty lot with an assortment of fine trees—big and small, evergreen and blossoming—bordered by a brook at the rear and SPACE! Comfortable entry hall, extra living-dining room (16x34, easily separated), kitchen with dishwasher et al, paneled family room with fireplace, partially tiled basement for ping pong, trains, et al, 2½ baths, plus a built-in vanity/basin in one bedroom for teen-age primping (if that is still done!) Because the house needs a bit of primping, it is priced at a moderate $58,500.

TREVENNA FARM, 1732-37; wing added 1940; renovation and modernization 1959-71; 15 rooms including 7 bedrooms, 4½ baths; 6 fireplaces; 5 stall horse barn; paddock, swimming pool; large brick terrace; 9.21 acres.

"Originally a three-room frame farmhouse on Ten Broeck land, this antiquarian's delight was in the Skillman family for 150 years until bought by the writer I. A. R. Wylie . . . In 1940 a large wing consisting of master bedroom, servants' quarters, porch and a modern kitchen was added . . . Beautiful old flooring cut from two types of pine and hemlock has recently been stripped and brought back to the original color . . . Contrasted with the rugged simplicity of the panelling, hardware, old beams and mantels of the original part of the house is the more formal and elegant woodwork in the entrance hall and living room." From brochure of 1970 Open House in Princeton, "A History of Architecture."

Double living room with twin fireplace, Dutch oven and doors, rare mantels, original window glass, brick floors—it's all there for "early Americanians"; For those who are also practical people, the essentials and extras that make for comfort are there: closets and storage galore, bookcases, pantry, laundry-freezer room, fire alarm system, etc. Moving outside, the trees are lovely, especially two huge maples adorning the terrace which must be as old as the house.

Offered at $150,000

IF OUR LIVELIHOOD DEPENDED SOLELY ON STRIPPING PAINT AND VARNISH FROM RARE ANTIQUES WE'D BE LIVING PRETTY LOW ON THE HOG. Happily business is booming at The Wood Shed and it's because customers bring us lots of nice, everyday furniture which was born about when they were. We've had our share of things a century or two old but mainly we're working with more recent vintage. So look around your home or office for a chair or table or entire set of furniture which by now really needs reviving. We strip most chairs for $7.50, dining tables for $15-25 and we can do the repairs and refinishing or show you how. In any event come out to The Wood Shed and see how nifty other people's things look. Our Chem-Clean solvent process is entirely safe for glued joints, veneer, inlay, fine woods, formica, cane, rush and metal. Wood grain stays smooth. And if you bring us one or two hardened paint brushes we'll clean them for nothing. The Wood Shed is between Princeton and Belle Mead, ½ mile off Route 206 on Bridgepoint Road. (201) 359-4777. We're closed Sun. and Mon. 4-20-2t

INSTANT HOUSE

No muss, fuss, paint-up or fix-up. Move right in to this wonderfully comfortable center hall Colonial on just over two rolling acres in Princeton's western township. Handsome living room with fireplace. Large dining room. Efficient kitchen adjoining an all-purpose area for informal meals or just relaxing. Convenient powder room. A maid's room (or private study) adjoins an extra downstairs bath. Upstairs are four corner bedrooms and two full baths. A thoroughly manageable house available now. Yards and yards of good carpeting are included in the realistic price of $86,500

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP LOT

Slightly more than a third of an acre in a supremely convenient location. This lot is presently in lawn and is surrounded on two sides by a split cedar fence. A dense lilac hedge screens the road. Pretty shade trees. City water and sewer in the streets. Exceptional value at $20,600

A COUNTRY SALT BOX

With such distinctive touches as: softly weathered siding, a slate roof, floors of walnut-stained oak and rough flagstone, two fireplaces, one of nearly walk-in proportions and nine over nine windows. Formal living and dining rooms, marvelous family room, modern kitchen, lavatory. Upstairs, a private master suite occupies one end of the house while 3 bedrooms and second bath share the other. Basement, attic, and tool room for storage. All on a high one acre lot a five minute walk from schools. $66,500

IF YOU'RE A GARDENER, YOUR PULSE WILL QUICKEN

As you walk around the acre and a half of fruit trees and perennial borders that surround this handsome western Princeton Georgian. Designed for its present owners in 1958 by a distinguished New York architect, it has been thoroughly enjoyed by them and their 4 children ever since. Its broad entry hall opens to living room with fireplace, bookcases and French doors to the garden; dining room, study and well arranged kitchen. Of the 5 bedrooms, 4 are on the second floor and one, along with a studio is on the third. 3½ baths. 2 car garage with convertible space above. The piece de resistance is a 14x22, fully automatic, Lord and Burnham greenhouse. Completely redecorated inside and available now on a quiet cul-de-sac. $133,500

HAVE A BALL!

Or a square dance, or an indoor barbecue and you'll be hard pressed to fill up this terrific big party room that overlooks the pool. With the kitchen at one end it also makes supervision of everyday children's activities a cinch. All in all, this delightfully rambling country house is perfect for a large, active family. Living room and study each have fireplaces, the master bedrooms and bath up. On nearly two wooded acres, the price is $89,500 and you can be in by early summer.

GET LOST

On a country acre, the wooded setting for this comfortably air conditioned four bedroom house, with its stone walled garden tucked into the dogwood trees, immediately north of the Princeton Township line. A quarry tiled family room, modern kitchen and high-ceilinged living room with fireplace make this the perfect location to view the changing seasons. Offered at $55,000

A PAIR OF RENTALS

The price is $600 per month for either of these fine Princeton houses. One's in the Riverside area and has 5 bedrooms and 3½ baths. Two living rooms each with fireplace, dining room, country kitchen. Unfurnished. The other has Pretty Brook Road for an address and has living room and study with fireplaces, dining room and super kitchen. 3 twin bedrooms and 3 baths. Partially furnished and quite elegant. Both available in June.

You'll like our moving service for what you DON'T get. Like...

MILDEW... MOLD... INSECTS... BAD ODORS

Protecting your things from nicks, dents and scratches is only part of our job. We think it's just as important that we keep your belongings spotlessly fresh and clean. So we treat our vans and the pads we use with the famous SANITIZED* process. A unique precaution that assures the freshness of everything you own. For a really "clean get-away" on moving day, call us.

TIME AND AGAIN

150-year-old country estate in Princeton Township with the graciousness of a bygone day and the convenience of the 1970's. Spacious main rooms, an occasional open beam ceiling, a cozy fireplace, a dressing room for the pool, a brick-floored screened porch overlooking the gardens, a real library—how delightful to the eye all of it is. Plus the trees, blossoms, breezes — an ecological heaven. $169.900

Large family? Short of bedrooms? Then this large older Victorian should solve your problems. The third floor has been converted into a large dormitory and there are 4 other bedrooms. The first floor has a spacious entrance foyer and high ceilings typical of this type house. $51.500

We are coming into the time of year when the trees will be most beautiful. This large Colonial in its natural setting and on 2 acres has charm, atmosphere or comfort—call it what you will—and it has something everyone likes. The patio and a screened-in porch off the dining room is just great for summer living. The library is cozy—there are 4 bedrooms. Lovely area of Princeton. $135.000

The best of the old and the best of the new combine to give the utmost comfort and convenience in this modern, yet traditional large home. It is hidden amongst majestic trees on a 1½ acre lot. When you enter the front door of this home you are amazed by the spaciousness of it. The kitchen is one of the largest we have seen with a large bay window in the breakfast area. There are five bedrooms, 3 full baths and 2 powder rooms. This is a new house ready for painting—just in time for you to choose your own colors! $99,500

Here is a nifty little home in West Windsor. There are mature trees on the lot and a nice outdoor barbecue for summer picnics. In very good condition, it has study, family room, 3 bedrooms and 2½ baths. $45.900
